HARDING FOR PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT

Regardless of Views of Volstead Law, it Must be Upheld, President Says

SPEAKS IN DENVER, COL.

Declares Belief that Volstead Law Won't be Weakened, or Amendment Repealed

Denver, June 25.—President Harding served notice in an address here today that the federal government was determined to enforce the prohibition law even should the burden of enforcement continue to be increasingly thrown upon it by the states.

Moreover, the executive voiced the conviction not only that the prohibition amendment will not be repealed, but that whatever changes may be made in the Volstead Act "will represent the sincere purpose of effective enforcement, rather than modification of the general policy."

Striking straight out at those who violate the law, the President said the issue is fast coming to be recognized not as one between the "wets" and "drys," but as one of whether the laws of "this country can be and will be enforced."

"So far as the federal government is concerned," he said, "and I am very sure also, so far as concerns the very great majority of the state governments and the local governments, will be enforced. A gratifying, indeed it may fairly be said, an amazing progress has been made in the last few years toward better enforcement."

While Mr. Harding made no direct reference to the situation in New York state, he did say that "the spectacle of a state nullifying its own authority, and asking the national sovereignty to take over an important part of its powers, is new."

He added that "when the implications of this strange proposal are fully understood by people, and their devotion to preserving the rights of the states, the new nullificationists, I venture to say, will discover that they have perpetrated what is likely to prove one of the historic blunders in political management."

The President disclosed that a good deal of testimony is reaching Washington that some states having prohibition enforcement codes and even some which successfully enforced "dry" laws before national prohibition are "disposed to abdicate their own police authority in this matter and to turn over the burden of prohibition enforcement to the federal authorities."

"Doubtless," he said, "this is largely due to a misconceived notion, too widely entertained, that the federal government has actually taken over the real responsibility. The fact is quite the contrary. The federal government is not equipped with the instrumentalities to make enforcement locally effective. It is not equipped to maintain either a police or a judicial establishment adequate to or designed for such a task. If the burden of enforcement shall continue to be increasingly thrown upon the federal government it will be necessary, at huge expense, to create a federal police authority which in time will inevitably come to be regarded as an instrument upon and interference with the right of local authority to manage local concerns. The possibilities of disaster in such a situation hardly need to be suggested. Yet it is something that we must recognize as among the menaces in this situation."

"The federal government ought to perform, in connection with the enforcement of this policy, those functions which are obviously within its proper province. These are compliance in all its aspects as it relates to international commerce, the importation and exportation of liquors, the collection of federal revenue, the protection of smuggling, and in general the enforcement of the law within the proper realm of federal authority. But the business of local enforcement, by states and cities, ought to be in the hands of the state and local authorities, and it should be executed in all sincerity and good faith, as other laws are presumed to be executed."

No Reason must not be construed as indicating any relaxation of the national government's purpose to do its full duty in this matter. I have no doubt that if the burden is cast, in undue proportion, upon the national authority the federal government will, not only under the administration that is now in power, but in the future, assume and discharge the full obligation. But I am pointing out that this ought not to be made necessary. The national policy ought to be supported by the public opinion and the administrative machinery of the whole country. For myself, I am confident that we are passing now through the most difficult stage of this matter, and that as time passes there will be more and more willing acceptance by authorities everywhere of the unalterable obligation of law enforcement. The country and the nation will not permit the law of the land to be made a byword.

"It is a curious illustration of loose thinking, that some people have supposed as a matter of protecting the rights of the states, that (Continued on Page 3)

HUNDREDS OF GUESSES

THE WINNERS TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
The official time in which the Overland Red Bird used one half pint of gasoline being eleven minutes and fifty-seven seconds we find the following four named persons made the closest guess on the time namely:

F. C. Ellsworth, 102 Main St. Abbie Erickson, 309 Park Ave. Frank Walbert, 319 Second St. L. S. Nielson, Varney Apt. These four persons all made a guess of twelve minutes (12); hence there is a tie between them which it will be necessary to determine in some manner.

(Signed)
A. M. Christianson, H. T. Murphy.

Among the hundreds of guesses submitted in the guessing contest held by the LaGr Motor Sales Company, no one guessed the exact time in which the Overland Red Bird used one-half pint of gasoline. The four closest to the correct time, being tied, they drew lots for the prizes. They won them in the order named above. F. C. Ellsworth getting the first prize of $75 credit on the purchase of an Overland or Willys-Knight during 1923, Abbie Erickson got second prize of $24 in cash and Frank Walbert, 319 2nd, street, got third prize of $10 in cash. Winner of first prizes gets also a free insurance policy on a new car, the policy being given by H. T. Murphy Insurance Company.

The Overland Red Bird made its run Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock with Postmaster H. T. Murphy timing it. The guesses had been put in a ballot box, the key being in the possession of Judge A. M. Christianson. The drawing was at 8:30 p. m. Saturday.

Prior to the drawing the Elks band, under the leadership of Fred Peterson, played a concert at the Lake Motor Sales Company building corner, which was greatly appreciated by the large crowd which had gathered there. While there was no attempt to establish any record in the contest, the mileage which the Red Bird made on a half-pint of gasoline in crowded downtown streets, was considered exceptionally good.

THREE KILLED AS CAR FALLS OVER CLIFF

Newspaper Correspondents With Harding's Party Victims of Auto Accident

DROPS 75 FEET

Dawson, Colorado State Historian Fatally Injured; 4th Victim May Recover

Denver, June 25.—Thomas F. Dawson, Colorado state historian and nationally known newspaper man, died this morning in a Denver hospital, the third victim of the automobile accident in Bear Creek Canyon. Mr. Dawson was with the group of newspaper men in President Harding's party which arrived here yesterday morning.

The accident occurred when the automobile, one of the caravan in which visiting newspaper correspondents with President Harding's special train and local newspaper writers, were riding through Denver's mountain park went over a cliff in Bear Cliff Canyon, dropping 75 feet into the creek bed.

Two of the occupants of the car died previous to Mr. Dawson. They are:

Sumner Curtis, representative Republican National Committee accompanying the Harding party and for years a widely known newspaper correspondent.

Tommy French, a statistician for the Great West Sugar company of Denver, who was driving the car.

Donald A. Craig, manager Washington Bureau of New York Herald, who received a lacerated scalp, bruised shoulders and suffered severe shocks. Early this morning it was said he would recover unless complications developed.

Mr. Dawson suffered a broken ankle, bruised shoulders and scalp lacerations and due to his advanced years he failed to rally.

The newspaper men who had gone on the trip as guests of the Denver Press club had climbed Lookout mountain and were returning through Bear Creek Canyon when the accident occurred. The car was rounding Looking Glass curve, one of the sharp bends in the road, when it was seen to swerve, crash through a retaining wall and roll down the rocky incline. It is believed that a broken steering knuckle caused the car to become unmanageable.

BIG QUESTION BEFORE CITY COMMISSION

Whether Water Plant Is to be All City-owned to be Decided by Commission

ALSO ACT ON PUMPS

City Commission Expected to Take Important Steps at Meeting Tonight

Two important questions in connection with the city ownership of the water plant will come before the city commission tonight—receiving of new bids on pumps and considering bids on oil engines for furnishing power to pump the water. The financing preliminaries now are complete, and it is expected that the bond companies will advance the necessary money for purchase and completion of extensions upon bond attorneys' approval of the city's procedure in the authorization and sale of the securities. Other contracts for extensions have been let.

The most important problem now before the city commission and the citizens committee is the matter of oil engines. The question presented is whether or not the city shall have a complete city-owned water plant, or whether it shall continue to be dependent upon another utility for power which is costly and which might be the subject of constant dispute before the railroad commission.

If it is decided that the city water plant shall be a completely operated municipal plant, the question then comes before the commission of the method of furnishing power for pumping water. A steam plant was suggested, but virtually discarded because of the proposition advanced for pumping water with oil driven engines.

The huge saving made over the present price paid by the Bismarck Water Supply Company to the Hughes Electric Company for power for pumping water, as laid before the commission by at least two bidders, companies, narrowed the question to virtually whether the city shall use oil engines or buy its power.

Several representatives of oil engine and pump companies were here today to appear before the commission. Homer N. Anderson of St. Paul, representing the Worthington Pump and Machinery Corporation, and H. B. Wilson of Chicago, representing the sales department of the Worthington Diesel engine, were among those here. They were expected to present figures showing a big saving could be made with the use of oil engines, it being known that they (Continued on Page 3)

"L" TRAIN FALLS FROM STRUCTURE

Seven Known Dead When Elevated Car Fall From Height

MANY INJURED

New York, June 25.—A two-car train bound for New York fell from the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit company's elevated structure at Fifth and Flatbush avenues today. A number of persons were reported killed. B. M. T. officials were unable to confirm first reports that 10 persons had been killed and a score injured. Fire apparatus was rushed to the scene.

Later reports said at least seven were killed. Amid screams passengers climbed through broken windows, their faces streaming blood. Some were carried out. Others were able to crawl. Two hospitals announced they had one dead and 13 injured.

At 3 o'clock the number of dead was estimated at six, with 40 injured. Four bodies had been recovered at this time.

Fire broke out in the cars after they fell, but firemen quickly extinguished the blaze. An unofficial explanation of the accident was that an axle on one of the cars had broken and that this had slipped up the outside rail, causing the train to plunge to the street.

THREE ARE DROWNED

Couple in St. Paul Lose Lives When Boat Is Capsized During Heavy Wind

In Minnesota and Wisconsin most of the deaths were caused by drowning when the sudden stroke of the storm prevented boats from reaching shore.

St. Paul, June 25.—Torrential downpours early today washed flooded basements and streets in the Twin Cities and highways in the country followed severe windstorms of tornado proportions which resulted in six known deaths in the Northwest during the past 48 hours.

The stormy weather brought to an end a prolonged heat wave in the Northwest.

The dead are: Miss Thora Brain, 24, St. Paul, killed in an automobile accident. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pierce, St. Paul, drowned near St. Paul when their boat capsized during the storm. Clarence N. McIlwaine, Huron, S. D., capitalist, drowned at Byron lake, when his boat capsized during a storm.

It is reported at Hillsboro but not in sufficient amounts to cause damage. Rain has put the roads in muddy shape throughout this part of the country.

Six Foreign Ships Dock Within Three Mile Limit Over Week-End

DEFY DRY RULINGS

New York, June 25.—Two more "wet" liners steamed into port today while United States government officials were preparing to move on six other vessels which had docked over the week-end with liquor transported over the three-mile line, in defiance of the treasury department dry rulings.

The latest arrivals were the liner Tuscania and the French liner Surfer.

Six trans-Atlantic liners which docked yesterday were waiting at their piers today for the next action on the part of government officials toward the seizure of supplies above the amount allowed them for medicinal purposes on their outward voyage.

They were the White Star liner Rio, the Cunard Caronia the Italian liner Contardi, making her maiden trip to the United States, the French liner Provident and the Bergensgaard and the Paris.

WOULD GIVE GRAIN GRADE DEPT. FUNDS

Plan Being Worked Out By State Officials for Financing Department

A plan is being worked out by Attorney-General George F. Shafer, Chairman Frank Millhollan of the board of railroad commissioners and John N. Hagan, state grain grader supervisor, for the financing of the department now under Mr. Hagan's pending decision of the United States Supreme Court on the legality of the state grain grading inspection act.

Mr. Shafer has advised that application may be made for the transfer of an unexpended balance of over $18,000 in the grain grader fund for the use of the railroad commissioners under the former law to the new department, which is functioning in limited form by agreement of parties to the lawsuit, for the use of Mr. Hagan's department after July 1.

All grain elevator bonds expiring July 1 and must be renewed, Mr. Shafer said, and he regards the work as very important. The present appropriation of $10,000 provided for the grain grading department in the initial law is said now to be about exhausted.

Two of the occupants of the car died previous to Mr. Dawson. They are:

Sumner Curtis, representative Republican National Committee accompanying the Harding party and for years a widely known newspaper correspondent.

Tommy French, a statistician for the Great West Sugar company of Denver, who was driving the car.

Donald A. Craig, manager Washington Bureau of New York Herald, who received a lacerated scalp, bruised shoulders and suffered severe shocks. Early this morning it was said he would recover unless complications developed.

Mr. Dawson suffered a broken ankle, bruised shoulders and scalp lacerations and due to his advanced years he failed to rally.

The newspaper man who had gone on the trip as guests of the Denver Press club had climbed Lookout mountain and were returning through Bear Creek Canyon when the accident occurred. The car was rounding Looking Glass curve, one of the sharp bends in the road, when it was sent to swerve, crash through a retaining wall and roll down the rocky incline. It is believed that a broken steering knuckle caused the car to become unmanageable.

TAKE UP BIG BOND ISSUES

Neither time nor expense was spared, and residents from all over the eastern part of Stark county attended. The program included baseball games, and snappy wild west races as features.

BIG QUESTION BEFORE CITY COMMISSION

Whether Water Plant Is to be All City-owned to be Decided by Commission

ALSO ACT ON PUMPS

City Commission Expected to Take Important Steps at Meeting Tonight

Two important questions in connection with the city ownership of the water plant will come before the city commission tonight—receiving of new bids on pumps and considering bids on of engines for furnishing power to pump the water. The financing preliminaries now are complete, and it is expected that the bond companies will advance the necessary money for purchase and completion of extensions upon bond attorneys' approval of the city's procedure in the authorization and sale of the securities. Other contracts for extensions have been let.

The most important problem now before the city commission and the citizens committee is the matter of oil engines. The question presented is whether or not the city shall have a complete city-owned water plant, or whether it shall continue to be dependent upon another utility for power which is costly and which might be the subject of constant dispute before the railroad commission.

If it is decided that the city water plant shall be a completely operated municipal plant, the question then comes before the commission of the method of furnishing power for pumping water. A steam plant was suggested, but virtually discarded because of the proposition advanced for pumping water with oil driven engines.

The huge saving made over the present price paid by the Bismarck Water Supply Company to the Hughes Electric Company for power for pumping water, as laid before the commission by at least two bidding companies, narrowed the question to virtually whether the city shall use oil engines or buy its power.

Several representatives of oil engine and pump companies were here today to appear before the commission. Holmer N. Anderson of St. Paul, representing the Worthington Pump and Machinery Corporation, and H. B. Wilson of Chicago, representing the sales department of the Worthing Diesel engine, were among those here. They were expected to present figures showing a big saving could be made with the use of oil engines, it being known that they (Continued on Page 3)

Couple in St. Paul Lose Lives When Boat Is Capsized During Heavy Wind

St. Paul, June 25.—Wind and rainstorms which were swept through sections of the central Northwest over the weekend took a toll of nearly a score of lives and did extensive property damage, incomplete reports indicated.

Ten persons are reported killed in Adams county, North Dakota, meager information over crippled telegraph wires declared.

In Minnesota and Wisconsin most of the deaths were caused by drowning when the sudden stroke of the storm prevented boats from reaching shore.

St. Paul, June 25.—Torrential downpours early today washed flooded basements and streets in the Twin Cities and highways in the country followed severe windstorms of tornado proportions which resulted in six known deaths in the Northwest during the past 48 hours.

The stormy weather brought to an end a prolonged heat wave in the Northwest.

The dead are:

Miss Thora Brain, 24, St. Paul, killed in an automobile accident.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pierce, St. Paul, drowned near St. Paul when their boat capsized during the storm.

Clarence N. McVaine, Huron, S. D., capitalist, drowned at Byron lake, when his boat capsized during a storm.

NO ATTEMPT IS MADE YET TO SEIZE LIQUOR

Six Foreign Ships Dock Within Three Mile Limit Over Week-End

DEFY DRY RULINGS

New York, June 25.—Two more "wet" liners steamed into port today while United States government officials were preparing to move on six other vessels which had docked over the week-end with liquor transported over the three-mile line, in defiance of the treasury department dry rulings.

The latest arrivals were the liner Tuscanian and the French liner Surfen.

Six trans-Atlantic liners which docked yesterday were waiting for their papers today for the next action on the part of government officials toward the seizure of supplies above the amount allowed them for medicinal purposes on their outward voyage.

They were the White Star liner Ric, the Cunard Coronia the Italian liner Conterdi, making her maiden trip to the United States, the French liner Provident and the Bergengaria and the Paris.

No attempt was made by authorities yesterday to seize the liquor stores and with the exception of fixing seals on the lockers no inspection was made.

WIDE AREA IN SOUTHWESTERN PART OF NORTH DAKOTA LAID WASTE BY TERRIFIC CYCLONE

Farm Buildings Are Wrecked, Wires Down, and Parties Are Searching Countryside For Dead and Injured in Storm—Damage Will Reach Over $100,000, Meagre Reports Obtainable From Scene of Storm Say.

ABERDEEN, S. D., June 25.—Death and destruction swept Adams county, North Dakota, when a tornado at 9 o'clock Sunday evening laid waste a wide stretch of prosperous farming country for 40 miles in the vicinity of Reeder and Hettinger, according to word received here.

Ten are known to have perished and the search continues amid the ruin of farm homes, advices said.

Known dead are Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis of Hettinger; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lambert, living south of Bucyrus and Olaf Lundahl of Bucyrus.

Three persons are dead in homes destroyed south of Reeder, North Dakota, and two dead south of Scranton, North Dakota.

Three children of the Lewis family were injured. Physicians from Lemmon, S. D., and searching parties from towns in the vicinity are driving over the devastated regions searching for other dead and injured.

Wires to Reeder are all down so that communication with what was the center of the storm has not been made.

Property damage will be enormous for the path of the storm is littered with wrecked houses and barns and wrecked silos.

Many Injured.
Known to have been injured in the storm are: W. R. Beaumont, Mrs. Frank Gotchey, Harry Danforth and two children, all of Reeder. Scores of others, names unknown are reported hurt.

Two children of George Lewis were found safe in the basement of the home, the parents dead.

The tornado hit Adams county, south of Reeder, and cut a path through from Reeder to Bucyrus, lifted for eight or ten miles and then dropped to earth southeast of Hettinger, continuing for eight miles.

Mrs. Herbert Spencer and two children of Bucyrus, Gladys Lambert and Marshall Lambert of Bucyrus were reported slightly hurt.

COMMUNICATIONS INTERRUPTED

Telephone communication between Bismarck and Reeder was disrupted by the storm. Reeder is on the Milwaukee railroad line in Adams county, in the southwestern corner of the state, and could be reached over the Milwaukee line of communication.

HEAR FIVE KILLED.
Fargo, June 25.—A dispatch to the Forum says five are known to have been killed in a cyclone that struck in the west end of Adams county about 8:30 o'clock Sunday night. The dead list are: Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lambert of Bucyrus, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Lewis of Hettinger, Olaf Lundahl, Bucyrus.

Property damage at $100,000. Mr. and Mrs. Lambert were killed in the destruction of the residence of Herbert Spencer, where they were calling. Mr. Spencer was internally injured and may not recover. Mrs. Spencer was slightly injured and their two children also slightly hurt.

HETTINGER ESCAPES.
Mandan, N. D., June 25.—A telephone report from Hettinger said that wires were down between Hettinger and Reeder and Scranton.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis, who were killed, live considerably north of Hettinger. A report was received at Hettinger that a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lambert of Bucyrus also perished.

Hettinger escaped loss in the storm.

WOULD GIVE GRAIN GRADE DEPT. FUNDS

Plan Being Worked Out By State Officials for Financing Department

A plan is being worked out by Attorney-General George F. Shafer, Chairman Frank Milhollan of the board of railroad commissioners and John N. Hagan, state grain grader supervisor, for the financing of the department now under Mr. Hagan pending decision of the United States Supreme Court on the legality of the state grain grading and inspection act.

Mr. Shafer has advised that application may be made for the transfer of an unexpended balance of over $18,000 in the grain grading fund for the use of the railroad commissioners under the former law to the new department, which is functioning in limited form by agreement of parties to the law suit, for the use of Mr. Hagan's department after July 1.

All grain elevator bonds expire July 1 and must be renewed. Mr. Shafer said, and he regards this work as very important. The present appropriation of $10,000 provided for the grain grading department in the initiated law is said now to be about exhausted.

BAND TO PLAY
AT LAHR MOTOR
SALES TONIGHT

Announcement to be Made
There of Winners in Auto
Guessing Contest

FOR JUBILEE WEEK

The Overland Red Bird ran was made promptly at 3:30 this afternoon. Postmaster Murphy, who timed the car, is keeping the time secret until 8:30 p. m.

A band concert and announcement of winners in the Overland Red Bird gasoline contest will mark the close today of Jubilee
Week of the Willys-Knight Company, as celebrated by the Lahr
Motor Sales Company, distributors in this territory.

The band concert will start at 7:30 p. m. at the Lahr Motor Sales Company building and will continue until the announcement of the winners in the prize contest is made.

At about 8:30 o'clock Judge A.
M. Christianson will surrender the key to the box which holds the guesses which have been made by persons of the makes a new Overland Red Bird will run on a half pint of gasoline. The prizes are worth $110.

Celebrating the fact that the Willys-Overland Company had built its one millionth automobile,
the Lahr Motor Sales Company offered also special inducements

on accessories to the motoring public.
Postmaster H. T. Murphy will occupy a seat in the Red Bird and hold a stop watch, the test being made at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon. It is not a gasoline mileage contest because the test is made in the busy Saturday afternoon traffic of the city and could not properly be called a test, but is merely a guessing contest for the interest of all and the benefit of the winners.

Capt. Murphy, of the Murphy Insurance Co., who timed the car, announced he would give free insurance policy on the car bought by the winner of first prize.

Willys' Saw Future

In reviewing the development of the Willys-Overland Company up to the building of the one millionth car which was completed on June 12 and in commemoration of which the week of June 18 to 23 has been set aside as Jubilee Week, acknowledge of the genius of John North Willys, President of the organization, must be taken into account. Mr. Willys had the vision to see the future of the industry twenty years ago. He had absolute confidence in the ultimate destiny of the automobile, and steadfastly adhered to his faith. Initiative has always been characteristic of the man who now heads the activities of the company.

Even as a boy in Canandaigua,
New York, where he was born, he was fond of little business deals with his companions and one of his first ventures showed conclusively that he had more than average business ability with no small amount of ingenuity.

Being keenly observant he noticed one day that drivers were continually having trouble with their reins which were always falling down around the horse's feet. As a preventive he secured a dozen clamps for holding the reins. With the proceeds of the first dozen, he bought two dozen and quickly disposed of them all.

Enters Automobile Field

In 1889 Mr. Willys was looking one day out of the window of a Cleveland building when he noticed something on four wheels crawling along the street. No horse was attached to it, yet it looked exactly like a carriage. Then and there Mr. Willys said the machine had inveles "heaven hollow."

At that time the total output of cars was less than 400 for the whole country. Later Mr. Willys bought a Pierce Motorette which was fashioned like a carriage and powered with a French motor about the size of a hot water bottle. Soon afterwards Mr. Willys had a talk with Mr. Pierce in Buffalo and it was decided that Mr.
Willys was to have one of the first automobiles that Mr. Pierce turned out, as the Pierce Company was then experimenting with them. Later Mr. Willys bought a demonstrating car for $900 and the first year he sold two cars. From then on he developed the automobile.

AT THE MOVIES

CAPITOL.
Shirley Mason, the popular William Fox star, comes to the Capitol theater in "The New Teacher," for a two-day run commencing Monday. No production in which this dainty star has been seen approaches in point of beauty and detail the new charming story selected for her by Mr.
Fox. The picture is from Dorothy Yost's tale, "The Little Alien," and the scenario is also the work of the author.

In "The New Teacher" Miss Mason appears as a young society girl who tires of social life. She yearns to do something for her poorer fellow beings. When the family suffer a financial reverse she accepts a position as a teacher in one of the public schools located in the slums of New York. Her sweetheart finds her and in order to protect her becomes a policeman. After she has accomplished many praiseworthy acts, he induces her to resume her former status, and the picture ends
by their being married.

An excellent cast, which includes
Alan Forrest, Earl Metcalfe and Pat
Moore, the child actor who is popularly forging to the front ranks of stardom, support Miss Mason in her latest offering.

THE ELTINGE.
Eating spaghetti in the approved manner of the Italians is difficult enough to make even an adult, unaccustomed to the task, shudder. But when a boy of the age and size of Little Jackie Coogan attempts the feat

—why, it can't be done.
Jackie tries it in his latest production, "Daddy," a First National picture produced by Sol Lesser, which will be seen at the Eltinge theater
Monday and Tuesday, and he convulses you with his antics. In dis-hinging the slippery edible out of the pot on the stove Jackie finds it impossible to make it stay on the plate, so he brings a pair of scissors into play.
Then, when he attempts to transfer the food to his empty stomach,
he discovers that it cannot be done.
His nimble brain, however, works out a plan of eating the spaghetti without becoming entangled in its folds—and the result is one of exciting humor.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Coogan wrote the story of "Daddy," which is a perfect blend of humor, pathos and tragedy, with Jackie cast as the homeless, parentless waif, who wins
the hearts of all.
Another feature at the Eltinge for Monday and Tuesday is one of the "Fighting Blood" stories.

ENFORCE LAW IS WORD SENT TO SHERIFFS

Attorney-General Points Out
New Laws Becoming Effective July 1

All sheriffs are admonished by Attorney-General George F. Shafer to enforce the new laws effective July 1 requiring presence of a deputy sheriff at all dances held outside of cities and villages, and prohibiting dancing in North Dakota on Sunday.

Citing the provision of house bill No. 206, providing that it shall be the duty of the sheriff to police a dance held outside of a city or village, and that persons before giving a dance are required to notify the sheriff and to pay the sheriff the expense of having a deputy there, Mr. Shafer, in a circular letter to all sheriffs, says:

"At the time of issuing licenses for the operation of public dances this year, the State Licensing Department is calling the attention of each license holder to the mandatory provisions of this law, and admonishing them to notify the sheriff of all dances intended to be held, and you are to make provision for the policing thereof, as required by this act."

The purpose of the law, he added, "was to insure the maintenance of law and order at public dances held outside of cities and villages, where, heretofore, there was no officer present, in the hope that the evils which have resulted from unregulated country dances may be eliminated, or reduced to a minimum."

The Attorney-General further calls attention of sheriffs to the provision making the proprietor of a dancing hall responsible for keeping persons under 18 years of age from such dances, unless accompanied by parent or guardian.

"I desire to call your attention to H. B. 158, passed by the legislature, which prohibits public dancing on Sunday, that is, between twelve o'clock Saturday night, and twelve o'clock Sunday night."

The Attorney-General admonishes sheriffs in sending out deputies to make known to them all phases of the law and also to caution them to guard against sale or distribution, or possession, of intoxicating liquors.

"I desire, with your cooperation, and with the assistance of the good citizens generally in this state, to enforce a high standard of moral conduct at all dances hereafter held in this state, to suppress lawlessness, and eliminate as many of these evils resulting from them as possible," the Attorney-General concluded his letter.

$8,307 VERDICT IS UPHELD

Judgment of Walsh County Is Upheld in High Court

A verdict of $8,307.00 obtained by James Hrabek against John Patocka for injuries sustained in an assault and battery was affirmed by the supreme court here today. The case came to the higher court from Walsh county, and was appealed by Patocka. The court held instructions by Judge A. G. Burr and rejection of testimony did not constitute sufficient error for reversal. The high court's opinion was delivered by Chief Justice Bronson. Other cases decided include:

First National Bank of McVillage, plaintiff-appellant vs. Mrs. John R. Sutsman, defendant-respondent; from Sutsman county, Janowski, judge; action upon promissory note: Affirmed. Opinion by Bronson, chief justice.

Ellis R. Coughlin, as administrator, plaintiff-respondent vs. Aetna Life Insurance Co., defendant-appellant, from district court, Ward county, Burr, judge; involving appeal from judgment: Affirmed. Opinion by Christianson, justice.

N. P. CLUB WOMEN ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Mrs. Charlebois Heads Burleigh County Organization

Mrs. E. Charlebois was re-elected president of the Burleigh county Federation of Nonpartisan clubs Saturday afternoon at the closing session. Mrs. Charlebois, who was elected vice president at the last meeting of the Burleigh county clubs, succeeded Mrs. C. D. King of Moffit, who resigned her position as president about six months ago.

Other officers elected were Miss Hazel Uhde of Regan, vice president; Mrs. C. G. Boise, secretary, succeeding Mrs. Chas. Faust of Moffit; Mrs. C. W. Lauder, treasurer, succeeding Mrs. Chas. Kuehl of Regan; Mrs. David Eyras of Wingo, delegate to the biennial convention which will be held in Bismarck in February of 1925; Mrs. Calderhead, alternate.

Speakers of the afternoon were M. A. C. A. Fisher of Valley City, president of the North Dakota Federation of Nonpartisan Women's clubs, and Former Justice of the Supreme Court Grace. Preceding the opening of the session of the afternoon a musical program was given.

"The Nonpartisan club as an civic center and its relation to better government," was the subject discussed by Mrs. Fisher. She declared that better government resulted from better human relationships; that it had its foundation in the home, the church, and the school.

If the proper spirit developed in the home it leads to better community life, she said, for it is in the home where he gains his first ideas of conduct. Then in the school and in the church the development of his home life is advanced. He broadens out, comes into contact with a greater number of people, has an opportunity to test out and live up to the home teachings.

The importance of the clubs becoming community centers was emphasized by the speaker. She said that it was at these gatherings that the people met and had the opportunity to discuss the problems before the nation as well as before the community.

The meeting of the State Board of all the federated counties will be held in Valley City, July 11 and 12, it was announced. At this time it was thought that Frederick J. Luby, national secretary of the Association for the Prevention of War, might speak. Representative Sinclair and Senator Lynn J. Frazier may also be speakers at the meeting.

It was decided at the meeting that a call for a Burleigh county institute should be issued this fall. The institute will probably be held in Regan or Wingo.

Former Supreme Court Justice Grace spoke upon the economic problems facing the club women in their work. He urged them to improve their club organization and continue their club work which he said was of great benefit to the community.

Storm Freak Blows Granary Over And Stands It Up Right

Grand Forks, June 25—The high wind Friday night caused Walter Scott, a farmer living 40 miles south of Langdon and his family to sleep in a 12 by 14 granary on their farm. Lloyd Scott, eight months old infant, sustained a fractured skull. He was taken to a hospital at Grand Forks where his recovery is doubtful. The rest of the family sustained bruises but no serious injuries.

BIG QUESTION
BEFORE CITY COMMISSION
had made investigations along that line.

C. D. Morton of Fairbanks-Morse company discussing the Diesel oil engine situation said:

"Actual Water Consumption for the year 1922 amounted to 62,000,000 gallons. Capacity of new pumping equipment is 1500 gallons per minute or 20,000 gallons per hour. Average daily consumption for the past year amounted to 444,000 gallons. This would require a daily run of 5.2 hours with the new equipment. The new equipment is composed of two continuous service pumps connected to two motors, 30 and 125 horse power respectively. The combined 155 horse power represents an approximate load of 127 kilowatts which at a 3c rate would mean an hourly cost of $3.81. A 5.2 hour run would cost $20.05. Carrying this on through would mean a yearly cost of $7,646.75.

"Compare this with 200 horse power oil engine operating at a full load, pulling these pumps with a guaranteed fuel and oil cost per hour of $1.15 or a daily run of 5.2 hours at a cost of $6.27 or a yearly run for $2,285.65.

"We understand that the opposition contend that a 5 percent depreciation and a 1 percent maintenance on equipment of this kind is ridiculous. That the life of engine equipment cannot be figured over 10 years. Therefore a 10 percent depreciation is proper. We understand how this may be true with different types of equipment where we have simplicity on one hand and complication on the other. However, information can be furnished your readers from hundreds of installations where equipment of this kind and a's has been in continuous operation for the past twelve years and is still going strong 100 percent.

"You will realize that the above is figured on the actual water consumption. We have reason to believe that this will increase, due to lower rates and pure water. We would not be so far off in estimating the actual water consumption will double within the next year or so. If such is the case the equipment must operate 10 or 11 hours daily, resulting in a saving amounting to double that of our former figure. Let us figure on an investment of $17,000.00 and charge a true overhead including interest, depreciation and maintenance of 12 percent or charge a total yearly overhead of $2,910.00 with a yearly power saving ranging from $6,000 upwards to $10,000. Would not this be a profitable investment as well as a very much needed protection against increased power rates being imposed upon the city.

the states should abandon their part in enforcing the prohibitory policy. That means simply an invitation to the Federal government to exercise powers which should be exercised by the states. Instead of being an assertion of State rights, it is an abandonment of them; it is an abdication; it amounts to a confession by the state that it doesn't choose to govern itself but prefers to turn the task, or a considerable part of it, over the Federal authority. There could be no more complete negation of state rights.

ENFORCE LAW IS WORD SENT TO SHERIFFS

Attorney-General Points Out
New Laws Becoming Ef-
fective July 1

All sheriffs are admonished by Attorney-General George F. Shafer to enforce the new laws effective July 1 requiring presence of a deputy sheriff at all dances held outside of cities and villages, and prohibiting dancing in North Dakota on Sunday.

Citing the provision of house bill No. 206, providing that it shall be the duty of the sheriff to police a dance held outside of a city or village, and that persons before giving a dance are required to notify the sheriff and to pay the sheriff the expense of having a deputy there, Mr. Shafer, in a circular letter to all sheriffs, says:

"At the time of issuing licenses for the operation of public dances this year, the State Licensing Department is calling the attention of each license holder to the mandatory provisions of this law, and admonishing them to notify the sheriff of all dances intended to be held, and you are to make provision for the policing thereof, as required by this Act."

The purpose of the law, he added, "was to insure the maintenance of law and order at public dances held outside of cities and villages, where, heretofore, there was no officer present, in the hope that the evils which have resulted from unregulated country dances may be eliminated, or reduced to a minimum."

The Attorney-General further calls attention of sheriffs to the provision making the proprietor of a dancing hall responsible for keeping persons under 18 years of age from such dances, unless accompanied by parent or guardian.

"I desire also to call your attention to H. B. 156, passed by the last legislature, which prohibits public dancing on Sunday, that is, between twelve o'clock Saturday night, and twelve o'clock Sunday night."

The Attorney-General admonishes sheriffs in sending out deputies to make known to them all phases of the law and also to caution them to guard against sale or distribution, or possession, of intoxicating liquors.

"I desire, with your cooperation, and with the assistance of the good citizens generally in this state, to enforce a high standard of moral conduct at all dances hereafter held in this state, to suppress lawlessness, and eliminate as many of these evils resulting from them as possible," the Attorney-General concluded his letter.

had made investigations along that line.

C. D. Morton of Fairbanks-Morse Company discussing the Diesel oil engine situation said:

"Actual Water Consumption for the year 1922 amounted to 62,000,000 gallons. Capacity of new pumping equipment is 1500 gallons per minute or 20,000 gallons per hour. Average daily consumption for the past year amounted to 44,000 gallons. This would require a daily run of 5 1/2 hours with the new equipment. The new equipment is composed of two continuous service pumps connected to two motors, 30 and 125 horse power respectively. The combined 155 horse power represents an approximate load of 127 kilowatts which at a 3c rate would mean an hourly cost of $3.81. A 5 1/2 hour run would cost $20.95. Carrying this on through would mean a yearly cost of $7,646.75.

"Compare this with 200 horse power oil engine operating at a full load, pulling these pumps with a guaranteed fuel and oil cost per hour of $1.15 or a daily run of 5 1/2 hours at a cost of $6.27 or a yearly run for $2,285.55.

"We understand that the opposition contend that a 5 percent depreciation and a 1 percent maintenance on equipment of this kind is ridiculous. That the life of engine equipment cannot be figured over 10 years. Therefore a 10 percent depreciation is proper. We understand how this may be true with different types of equipment where we have simplicity on one hand and complication on the other. However, the states should abandon their part in enforcing the prohibitory policy. That means simply an invitation to the Federal government to exercise powers which should be exercised by the states. Instead of being an assertion of State rights, it is an abandonment of them; it is an abdication; it amounts to a confession by the state that it doesn't choose to govern itself but prefers to turn the task, or a considerable part of it, over the Federal authority. There could be no more complete negation of state rights.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

LET THERE BE FAIR PLAY

Tonight the city commission opens bids for pumping equipment and probably there will be consideration of the use of Diesel engines for pumping the water.

The Hughes Electric company indirectly is attempting to prevent the city water plant from achieving a maximum of efficiency. Certain agencies are trying to discount the use of oil engines to pump the water. It is essential that the city pump the water so that the consumers on the one hand can get water as cheaply as possible and on the other hand the city can control its own plant without going to the state commission for approval of its pumping contract.

Let every citizen be on his guard.

Bismarck voted almost unanimously for a city owned water plant. Why not make it complete?

This city did not vote to transfer the matter of water rates from the Bismarck Water Supply company to the Hughes Electric company.

There as yet has been no expression on the matter from the city commission, or the city engineer, but there should be some decision soon on this point.

A majority of the citizen's committee is known to be in favor of the city owning every unit of the new plant so that the people will be free from the domination of any private utility.

The first effort on the part of the Hughes Electric company to cripple the city owned plant was when its President, E. A. Hughes appeared before the city commission, and attempted at the eleventh hour when the bond people were present to buy the city securities, to knock out the plans completely and build the kind of a plant he thought the city should have.

His agents have been busy for weeks seeking to defeat all plans for the city to pump its own water.

He has refused to date to submit a power rate that will compete with the offer of the low bidder Diesel engines.

The Tribune cannot believe that in face of the emphatic vote for a city owned and city controlled plant, that any utility is to be permitted to defeat the will and desire of the voters.

To date, the negotiations have been handled above criticism. The city engineer, the commission and citizen's committee deserve the highest praise. There remains but one vital point to settle and that is the city control of power to pump the water, a matter that will play a most important part in fixing of rates.

This city will soon be free of one private utility in the matter of water rates.

Is it going to slip on another collar and let the power utility tell it what must be paid for water?

Install the oil engines by all means and place the control of rate making completely in the hands of the city commission.

This is the only logical action to be taken.

ICE

Is another Ice Age coming in which a gigantic glacier will creep down from the north pole toward the equator? Quite possible, according to some scientists who have studied the growth of northern glaciers in the last 70 years.

The MacMillan Arctic expedition has, as one of its main purposes, investigation of the possibility of another Ice Age. If such a catastrophe came, how quickly nations and individuals would stop warring against and robbing each other! In the presence of common danger, we quickly unite for the common good. You see this illustrated in disasters such as floods fires that destroy cities.

Why don't we co-operate without waiting for nature to send calamities to bring us to our senses?

DULL

If your job seems monotonous and dull, think of E. P. Smith of the Old Colony Trust Co. in Boston. He signs his name 350,000 times a year on checks, etc. A machine, holding five pens, enables him to sign five at a time. But that still necessitates 70,000 signatures a year. And if it's as boring as when teacher used to make us stay after school and write the same thing over and over again on the blackboard, Smith deserves a medal. Yet his job is the kind that standardization and mass production and "efficiency" are bringing all humanity toward steadily. We are walling ourselves in a frightful prison.

ECONOMY

People used to walk blocks to save five cents carfare—and often wore out several times that much shoeleather. The busy man who used to cut his envelopes open and use them for scratch paper was called thrifty; now he'd be considered a time waster.

Popular ideas about economy of money are becoming more sensible. When it comes to economizing on time, the only thing of real value, we're as great wasters as ever. Most of our rush is just a nervous explosion, not a shortcut.

"MASSACRED"

Ninety-seven per cent of the Armenian population in Turkey has been wiped out, to date, declares Rev. Dr. G. B. Young, of the Near East relief organization.

At this rate, if you bother to add up the Armenians "massacred" by the Turks in the last 10 years (according to the cables), there must be several millions of them left. Sometimes we wonder if a propagandist invented the adding machine. Why exaggerate an evil that admittedly exists and is atrocious enough without exaggeration?

PREDICTION

From the northern end of our continent, south and west of Hudson Bay, comes word that the season is three weeks late. Which should interest all of us, especially farmers, since much of our weather is manufactured up there.

The Ojibway Indians predict a very hot summer and a late-coming winter. They base this prediction on woodcraft, the late spawning of the dore and the depth at which they are catching Namaycush, the salmon trout.

The only drawback to living at home is if you don't eat it up you have it for the next meal.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

The next station in Choo-Choo Land was Bird Town. It didn't seem likely that Ruby Joan, the lost rag doll would come to such a place, but Mister Punch, the conductor man, told the Twins that they might as well look, now that they were there. So they hopped off the little train and looked around.

They were very glad that they had come, for Bird Town was not at all like they had supposed it would be. Instead of trees there were streets all properly named and numbered. But the whole town was up in the air, for every single house was on top of a post.

On the nearest and largest house, quite four stories high, and with balconies all around, was a large sign which said "Martin Hotel, Welcome!"

"We had better go there and ask," suggested Nancy. "Hotels are like drug stores. That's where you go to ask about anything you don't know."

They were just about to climb up the post that held up the Martin Hotel, when a cheery voice called down, "Good morning, my dears, can I do anything for you?"

It was Mrs. Martin herself in a purple dress. She had come out to dust a rug over the railing.

"We're looking for a rag doll," called Nancy. "Did you see her?"

"Hag she anything to eat with her?" asked Mrs. Martin. "Any seeds or pipe-cherries or bugs?"

"Goodness, no," said Nick. "Well, I'll ask my next neighbor," said Mrs. Martin. "Oh, Mrs. Wren, did you see a doll?"

"No!" said little Mrs. Wren sticking her head out of her tiny house. "But I'll ask my next neighbor. Oh, Mrs. Flicker, did you see a doll?"

"No," said Mrs. Flicker, "but I'll ask my next neighbor." And so it went all down the street.

Ruby Joan was not in Bird Town after all, so back went the Twins to the Choo-Choo Express.

LETTER FROM MRS. MARY ALDEN
PRESCOTT TO HER SON,
JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT.

MY DEAR BOY:

I cannot resist writing you although you have not answered my last letter, but I am sure I know the reason why. Do not be too proud, son, to confide in your mother.

She understands you, John, better than anyone else in the world. All mothers understand, John. If children would only take their mother's advice often they would be able to avoid much trouble.

I would not write you this, only dear Priscilla Bradford has been in New York for a week and she wrote me that the other night she saw Leslie at the Midnight Follies with Karl Whitney. They were alone and Leslie seemed just basking in the devoted attentions of that rich young Lothario. Dear Priscilla says that Leslie had on a low-cut gown with her arms bare.

Have you quarreled with Leslie, John? Why did she meet this old-time lover of hers in New York?

Dear Priscilla said she knew that you were not in town as Leslie looked so perfectly unattached and fancy free.

Oh John! I did not tell you so, but I felt that you were making a great mistake when you married this pleasure-loving, frivolous girl. Dear Priscilla tells me that in this public place Leslie was smoking a cigarette and that she also followed that shameless custom which many foolish women practice of rouging and powdering her face where all may see.

I have given the contract for painting the house as I knew, being your mother, I had only to ask anything of you, my son, to receive it. Leslie has left you, you certainly will not contribute to her support. Let her get it from her rich father if she cannot get it from her rich lover.

Write me immediately, John, for

Dear Priscilla wrote me that she even took out a stick of red paint and smeared it over her lips and that she evidently asked Karl Whitney if it were put on properly. For she made a little pouting motion with her lips and he nodded with a smile. Then they floated off in a lance.

John, I believe this that I am telling you might be made of enough importance for you to secure a divorce from your misguided wife and I am sure that, notwithstanding her great reluctance, dear Priscilla would tell this on the witness stand if you should deem it necessary for her to do so. Dear Priscilla has never been one to try to avoid a duty no matter how repugnant it was to her gentle soul.

You know that as a rule I do not believe in divorce, but I know that you are suffering and unhappy and I believe that after Time had softened the hurt that Leslie has given your pride, you would realize you never really loved her and you would also realize that there were other girls in the world who were more worthy of you and who could make you happier. The right kind of a girl would never think of looking at another man when once she is married.

I have given the contract for painting the house as I knew, being your mother, I had only to ask anything of you, my son, to receive it. Leslie has left you, you certainly will not contribute to her support. Let her get it from her rich father if she cannot get it from her rich lover.

Write me immediately, John, for

I shall be very anxious to know if I am the first one to open your eyes to what is going on in New York and if you and Leslie had quarreled before she left.

Dear Priscilla Bradford tells me that she is going around to the hotels tomorrow and see if either Leslie or Karl Whitney is registered at any one of them.

AT THE MOVIES

THE ELTINGE.

"Daddy" brings Jackie Coogan to the Eltinge theater for today and tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday and with him his pet pig Mildred. "Daddy" is the kind of picture that fits Jackie, and pleases everyone. "Mildred" is Jackie's bottle fed infant pig who grows to womanhood and is responsible for lots of the fun. And other laughs come thick and fast when Jackie mixes with the dish of spaghetti, that he tries to eat, when "Daddy" pants won't quite fit; when he tries to milk the cow. Then of course, there has to be some pathos which Jackie puts into a picture so appealingly.

A "Fighting Blood" story is also shown for Monday and Tuesday, entitled "Knight-in-Gale."

CAPITOL.

What promises to be one of the best pictures of the season will be seen when "The New Teacher," a William Fox production, starring Shirley Mason, opens at the Capitol theater. Miss Mason, while only a youngster, is one of the most lovable persons appearing on the silver screen.

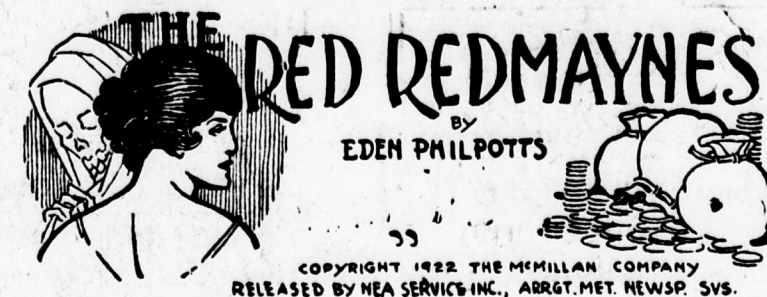

Preliminary notices of her new play say that she will enact the role of a society girl who becomes a school teacher when the family fortune dwindles. This is the type of role that Miss Mason should do exceedingly well, and is most after her own heart.

It is evident that Mr. Fox was desirous of making the picture one of the little star's best as he has surrounded her with an exceptionally able cast. Earl Metcalfe and Alan Forrest are two of the best actors in the Fox studio and tiny Pat Moore is one of the leading child actors on the screen.

The picture should be a big success.

The third communication came from the police station at Brixham and was somewhat lengthy. It ran thus:

"At ten minutes after two o'clock last night P. C. Widgery, on night duty at Brixham, saw a man on a motor bicycle with a large parcel behind him run through the town square. He proceeded down the main street and was going for the best part of an hour; but, before three o'clock, Widgery saw him return without his parcel. He went fast up the hill out of Brixham, the way he came. Inquiries today show that he passed the Brixham coast-guard station about a quarter after two o'clock, and he must have lifted his machine over the barrier at the end of the coast-guard road, because

Mark Brendon, famous criminal investigator, while taking holiday on Dartmoor is asked by Jenny Pendean to investigate the mystery of her husband's disappearance. Jenny's uncle, Robert Redmayne, is suspected of murdering Michael Pendean in a fit of insanity brought on by hardships in the recent war.

The two men are traced to the bungalow being built by Michael near Foggintor Quarry. Blood is found on the floor of the cottage and several witnesses testify to seeing Robert riding away on his motor bicycle with a heavy sack behind the saddle.

Mark learns that Robert is the stranger with whom the conversed at Foggintor Quarry on a day when Mark visited a trout stream there. Brendon remembers how conspicuously Robert dressed.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Have the women been in here this morning?" asked Brendon, and Inspector Halfyard answered that they had not.

"Two constables were here last night after one o'clock—the men I sent from Princetown when Mrs. Pendean gave the alarm," he said. "They looked round with an electric torch and found the blood. One came back; the other stopped on the spot all night."

Brendon then examined the ground immediately outside the kitchen door. For twenty yards he scrutinized every inch and presently found indications of a motor bicycle.

Half an hour later one of the constables approached, saluted Mark, and made a statement.

"They've pulled down the wall, sir, and found nothing there; but Fullford, the mason, says that a sack is missing."

Mark came back presently out of the rain which had now begun to fall steadily—but not before he had strolled as far as the fishing pools and seen clear marks of naked, adult feet on the sandy bank.

Nothing that he regarded as of value resulted from inspection of the remaining rooms and Brendon presently decided that he would return to Princetown. He showed Halfyard the footprints by the water and had them protected with a tarpaulin.

"What's your idea?" asked Halfyard.

"I should say we have to do with an unfortunate man, who's gone mad," replied the detective; "and a madman doesn't take long to find as a rule. I think it's murder right enough and I believe we shall find that this soldier, who's had shell shock, turned on Pendean and cut his throat, then, fondly hoping to hide the crime, got away with the body."

"Redmayne was a big, powerful man and he may have struck without intention to kill; but this mess means more than a blow with a fist. I think that he was a homicidal maniac and probably plotted the job beforehand with a madman's limited cunning; and if that is so, there's pretty sure to be news waiting for us at Princetown."

The correctness of Brendon's deduction was manifest within an hour, and the operations of Robert Redmayne defined up to a point. A man was waiting at the police station—George French, hostler at Two Bridges Hotel, on West Dart.

"I knew Captain Redmayne," he said, "because he'd been down once or twice of late to tea at Two Bridges. Last night, at half after ten, I was crossing the road from the garage and suddenly without warning, a motor bike came over the bridge. I heard the rush of it and only got out of the way by a yard. There was no light showing but the man went through the beam thrown from the open door of the hotel and I saw it was the captain by his great mustache and his red waistcoat."

"Was anybody with him?" "No, sir, I'd have seen that much; but he carried a big sack behind the saddle—that I can swear to."

There had been several telephone calls for Inspector Halfyard during his absence; and now three separate statements from different districts awaited him. These were already written out by a constable, and he took them one by one, read them, and handed them to Brendon. The first came from the post-office at Post Bridge, and the post-mistress reported that a man, one Samuel White, had seen a motor bicycle run at great speed without lights up the steep hill northward of that village on the previous night. He gave the time as between half past ten and eleven o'clock.

The second message told how a garage keeper was knocked up at Ashburton, just after midnight, in order that petrol might be obtained for a motor bicycle. The description of the purchaser corresponded to Redmayne and the message added that the bicycle had a large sack tied behind it.

The third communication came from the police station at Brixham and was somewhat lengthy. It ran thus:

"At ten minutes after two o'clock last night P. C. Widgery, on night duty at Brixham, saw a man on a motor bicycle with a large parcel behind him run through the town square. He proceeded down the main street and was going for the best part of an hour; but, before three o'clock, Widgery saw him return without his parcel. He went fast up the hill out of Brixham, the way he came. Inquiries today show that he passed the Brixham coast-guard station about a quarter after two o'clock, and he must have lifted his machine over the barrier at the end of the coast-guard road, because he was seen by a boy, from Berry Head lighthouse, pushing it up the steep path that runs to the downs. The boy was going for a doctor, because his father, one of the lighthouse watchers, had been taken ill."

Inspector Halfyard waited until Brendon had read the messages and put them down.

"About as easy as shelling peas," he asked.

"I expected an arrest," answered the detective. "It can't be long delayed."

As thought to confirm him the telephone bell rang and Halfyard rose and entered the box to receive the latest information.

"Paignton speaking," said the message. "We have just called at address of Captain Redmayne—No. 7 Marine Terrace. He was expected last night—had wired yesterday to say he'd be home. They left supper for him, as usual, when he is expected, and went to bed. Didn't hear him return, but found on going down house next morning that he had come—supper eaten, motor bike in tool house in back yard, where he keeps it. They called him at ten o'clock—no answer. They went in his room. Not there and bed not slept in and his clothes not changed. He's not been seen since."

Inspector Halfyard reported the statement and Brendon picked up the mouthpiece.

"Detective Brendon speaking. Who is it?"

"Inspector Reece, Paignton."

"Let me hear at five o'clock if arrest has been made. Failing arrest I will motor down to you after that hour."

"Very good, sir. I expect to hear news taken any minute."

Brendon considered, having first looked at his watch.

About 300 U. C. T. Families Enjoy Annual Picnic

Between 250 and 300 enthusiastic United Commercial Travelers and their families attended the big U. C. T. picnic given Sunday. Despite the rain in the early morning the picnic got underway at 11:30 o'clock. The committees in charge had prepared a program for the day that was packed with fun features.

To T. E. Flaherty, Wm. C. Busch, and Fred Dahl, members of the general committee; Felix Ulman, J. B. Smith, committee on refreshments; J. Gills, A. A. McCord, sports and E. B. Gorman transportation, was due great credit for the splendid success of the annual picnic.

Races and games for the old folks and for the children in addition to the fine entertainment and carnival features made the day an occasion long to be remembered by the big crowd attending.

Betty Wheeler and Marjory Doll won the 25-yard dash for little girls to the age of six years. The first prize was a toy pistol with caps, the second a package of peanut bar candy. In the peanut scramble which was staged for the little boys and girls, "Buddy" Corrigan, Gwendolyn Brinkman, and Betty Wheeler were the winners of the pistol and caps, toy duck, and candy. The little folks ran ten feet to a pile of peanuts from which they snatched two handfuls and ran back to their base. Paul Gorman was the winner of the neck tie and Robert Stroup several bars of candy in the "shoe mix" for boys from six to ten years.

First place in the race for girls from six to fourteen was won by Elsie Nelson and second place by Gwendolyn Pilmor, the first prize being a Japanese doll, the second being candy bars. In the running slow race for girls from the ages of ten to twelve Thelma Barney won the doll and Marion Jensen won the candy.

H. A. Dolly was awarded the bottle of hair tonic given as the first prize for the contest. In the 50-yard dash for bald headed men C. H. Barney received the runner up prize. In the 50-yard dash for boys, Wm. Corrigan was given the first prize, a bathing suit and Jacob Bendinger received the second which consisted of a belt.

In the 50-yard dash for men in which the ladies of the U. C. T. took part Mrs. H. S. Dallar received the beautiful silk parasol as a reward for her ability to balance the egg on her spoon and Mrs. W. J. Corrigan received a jar of peanut butter, given as the second prize. The race of twenty-five feet was run in four heats.

Mrs. Armand took first place and won a bathing helmet in the race for ladies over the age of 18; Mrs. N. P. Charrier received the bottle of olives as the second prize. In the contest of ball throwing for the ladies, Mrs. A. Martin was awarded the bottle of perfume for outdistancing her competitors while Miss Gladys Aukerman received second place, receiving an income burner.

As a grand finale for the celebration, there were two baseball games of nine innings, the "Leans" won from the "Fats" by a score of 13 to 10. Another game was played during the evening. The ball games proved highly entertaining to the spectators as well as to the players.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

LET THERE BE FAIR PLAY
Tonight the city commission opens bids for pumping equipment and probably there will be consideration of the use of Diesel engines for pumping the water.
The Hughes Electric company indirectly is attempting to prevent the city water plant from achieving a maximum of efficiency. Certain agencies are trying to discount the use of oil engines to pump the water. It is essential that the city pump the water so that the consumers on the one hand can get water as cheaply as possible and on the other hand the city can control its own plant without going to the state commission for approval of its pumping contract.

Let every citizen be on his guard.
Bismarck voted almost unanimously for a city owned water plant. Why not make it complete?
This city did not vote to transfer the matter of water rates from the Bismarck Water Supply company to the Hughes Electric company.

There as yet has been no expression on the matter from the city commission, or the city engineer, but there should be some decision soon on this point.

A majority of the citizen's committee is known to be in favor of the city owning every unit of the new plant so that the people will be free from the domination of any private utility.

The first effort on the part of the Hughes Electric company to cripple the city owned plant was when its President, E. A. Hughes appeared before the city commission, and at tempted at the eleventh hour when the bond people were present to buy the city securities, to knock out the plans completely and build the kind of a plant he thought the city should have.

His agents have been busy for weeks seeking to defeat all plans for the city to pump its own water.

He has refused to date to submit a power rate that will compete with the offer of the low bidder for Diesel engines. The Tribune cannot believe that in face of the emphatic vote for a city-owned-and-city-controlled plant, that any utility is to be permitted to defeat the will and desire of the voters.

To date, the negotiations have been handled above criticism. The city engineer, the commission and citizen's committee deserve the highest praise. There remains but one vital point to settle and that is the city control of power to pump the water, a matter that will play a most important part in fixing of rates.

This city will soon be free of one private utility in the matter of water rates.

Is it going to slip on another collar and let the power utility tell it what must be paid for water?

Install the oil engines by all means and place the control of rate making completely in the hands of the city commission.

This is the only logical action to be taken.

ICE
Is another Ice Age coming in which a gigantic glacier will creep down from the north pole toward the equator? Quite possible, according to some scientists who have studied the growth of northern glaciers in the last 70 years.

The MacMillan Arctic expedition has, as one of its main purposes, investigation of the possibility of another Ice Age. If such a catastrophe came, how quickly nations and individuals would stop warring against and robbing each other! In the presence of common danger, we quickly unite for the common good. You see this illustrated in disasters such as floods fires that destroy cities.

DULL
If your job seems monotonous and dull, think of E. P. Smith of the Old Colony Trust Co. in Boston. He signs his name 350,000 times a year on checks, etc. A machine, holding five pens, enables him to sign five at a time. But that still necessitates 70,000 signatures a year. And if it's as tiresome as when teacher used to make us stay after school and write the same thing over and over again on the blackboard, Smith deserves a medal. Yet his job is the kind that standardization and mass production and "efficiency" are bringing all humanity toward steadily. We are walling ourselves in a frightful prison.

ECONOMY
People used to walk blocks to save five cents carfare—and often wore out several times that much shoeleather. The busy man who used to cut his envelopes open and use them for scratch paper was called thrifty; now he'd be considered a time waster.

Popular ideas about economy of money are becoming more sensible. When it comes to economizing on time, the only thing of real value, we're as great wasters as ever. Most of our rush is just a nervous explosion, not a shortcut.

"MASSACRED"
Ninety-seven per cent. of the Armenian population in Turkey has been wiped out, to date, declares Rev. Dr. G. B. Young, of the Near East relief organization.
At this rate, if you bother to add up the Armenians "massacred" by the Turks in the last 10 years (according to the cables), there must be several millions of them left. Sometimes we wonder if a propagandist invented the adding machine. Why exaggerate an evil that admittedly exists and is atrocious enough without exaggeration?

PREDICTION
From the northern end of our continent, south and west of Hudson Bay, comes word that the season is three weeks late. Which should interest all of us, especially farmers, since much of our weather is manufactured up there.
The Ojibway Indians predict a very hot summer and a late-coming winter. They base this prediction on woodcraft, the late spawning of the dore and the depth at which they are catching Namaycush, the salmon trout.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

The next station in Choo-Choo Land was Bird Town. It didn't seem likely that Ruby Joan, the lost rag doll would come to such a place, but Mister Punch, the conductor man, told the Twins that they might as well look, now that they were there. So they hopped off the little train and looked around.

They were very glad that they had come, for Bird Town was not at all like they had supposed it would be.

Instead of trees there were streets all properly named and numbered.

But the whole town was up in the air, for every single house was on top of a post.

On the nearest and largest house, quite four stories high, and with balconies all around, was a large sign which said "Martin Hotel, Welcome."

"We had better go there and ask," suggested Nancy. "Hotels are like drug stores. That's where you go to ask about anything you don't know."

"They were just about to climb up the post that held up the Martin Hotel, when a cheery voice called down, 'Good morning, my dears, can I do anything for you?'"

It was Mrs. Martin herself in a purple dress. She had come out to dust a rug over the railing.

"We're looking for a rag doll," called Nancy. "Did you see her?"

"Had she anything to eat with her?" asked Mrs. Martin. "Any seeds or pipe-cherries or bugs?"

"Goodness, no," said Nick. "Well, I'll ask my next neighbor," said Mrs. Martin. "Oh, Mrs. Wren, did you see a doll?"

"No!" said little Mrs. Wren, sticking her head out of her tiny house. "But I'll ask my next neighbor. Oh, Mrs. Flicker, did you see a doll?"

"No," said Mrs. Flicker, "but I'll ask my next neighbor." And so it went all down the street.

Ruby Joan was not in Bird Town after all, so back went the Twins to the Choo-Choo Express.

LETTER FROM MRS. MARY ALDEN
PRESCOTT TO HER SON,
JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT.

MY DEAR BOY:
I cannot resist writing you although you have not answered my last letter, but I am sure I know the reason why. Do not be too proud, son, to confide in your mother.

She understands you, John, better than anyone else in the world. All mothers understand, John. If children would only take their mother's advice oftener they would be able to avoid much trouble.

I would not write you this, only dear Priscilla Bradford has been in New York for a week and she wrote me that the other night she saw Leslie at the Midnight Follies with Karl Whitney. They were alone and Leslie seemed just basking in the devoted attentions of that rich young Lothario. Dear Priscilla says that Leslie had on a low-cut gown with her arms bare.

Have you quarreled with Leslie, John? Why did she meet this old-time lover of hers in New York?

Dear Priscilla said she knew that you were not in town as Leslie looked so perfectly unattached and fancy free.

Oh, John! I did not tell you so, but I felt that you were making a great mistake when you married this pleasure-loving, frivolous girl. Dear Priscilla tells me that in this public place Leslie was smoking a cigarette and that she also followed that shameless custom which many foolish women practice of rouging and powdering her face where all may see.

I have given the contract for painting the house as I knew, being your mother, I had only to ask anything of you, my son, to receive it. If Leslie has left you, you certainly will not contribute to her support. Let her get it from her rich father if she cannot get it from her rich lover.

Write me immediately, John, for I shall be very anxious to know if I am the first one to open your eyes to what is going on in New York and if you and Leslie had quarreled before she left.

Dear Priscilla Bradford tells me that she is going around to the hotels tomorrow and see if either Leslie or Karl Whitney is registered at any one of them.

YOUR MOTHER.

I shall be very anxious to know if I am the first one to open your eyes to what is going on in New York and if you and Leslie had quarreled before she left.

THE RED REDMAYNES
EDEN PHILPOTTS
COPYRIGHT 1923 THE PHILLIP COMPANY
RELEASED BY NEA SERVICE, INC., ARTIST, MET. NEWS, S.V.S.
BEGIN HERE TODAY
Mark Brendon, famous criminal investigator, while taking holiday on Dartmoor is asked by Jenny Pendean to investigate the mystery of her husband's disappearance. Jenny's uncle, Robert Redmayne, is suspected of murdering Michael Pendean in a fit of insanity brought on by hardships in the recent war.
The two men are traced to the bungalow being built by Michael near Fogginton Quarry. Blood is found on the floor of the cottage and several witnesses testify to seeing Robert sliding away on his motor bicycle with a heavy sack behind the handle.
Mark learns that Robert is the stranger with whom he conversed at Fogginton Quarry on a day when Mark visited a trout stream there. Brendon remembers how conspicuously Robert dressed.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
"Has the workmen been in here this morning?" asked Brendon, and Inspector Halfyard answered that they had not.
"Two constables were here last night after one o'clock—the men I sent from Princetown when Mrs. Pendean gave the alarm," he said. "They looked round with an electric torch and found the blood. One came back; the other stopped on the spot all night."
Brendon then examined the ground immediately outside the kitchen door. For twenty yards he scrutinized every inch and presently found indications of a motor bicycle.
Half an hour later one of the constables approached, saluted Mark, and made a statement.
"They've pulled down the wall, sir, and found nothing there; but Fulford, the mason, says that a sack is missing."
Mark came back presently out of the rain which had now begun to fall steadily—but not before he had strolled as far as the fishing pools and seen clear marks of naked, adult feet on the sandy brink.
Nothing that he regarded as of value resulted from inspection of the remaining rooms and Brendon presently decided that he would return to Princetown. He showed Halfyard the footprints by the water and had them protected with a tarpaulin.
"What's your idea?" asked Halfyard.
"I should say we have to do with an unfortunate man, who's gone mad," replied the detective, "and a madman doesn't take long to find as a rule. I think it's murder right enough and I believe we shall find that this soldier, who's had shell shock, turned on Pendean and cut his throat, then, fondly hoping to hide the crime, got away with the body."
"Redmayne was a big, powerful man and he may have struck without intention to kill; but this mess means more than a blow with a fist. I think that he was a homicidal maniac and probably plotted the job beforehand with a madman's limited cunning; and if that is so, there's pretty sure to be news waiting for us at Princetown."
The correctness of Brendon's deduction was made manifest within an hour, and the operations of Robert Redmayne defined up to a point. A man was waiting at the police station—George French, hostler at Two Bridges Hotel, Exeter, Devon.
"I know Captain Redmayne," he said, "because he'd been down once or twice of late to tea at Two Bridges. Last night, at half after ten, I was crossing the road from the garage and suddenly, without warning, a motor bike came over the bridge. I heard the rush of it and only got out of the way by a yard. There was no light showing but the man went through the beam thrown from the open door of the hotel and I saw it was the captain by his great mustache and his red waistcoat."
"Was anybody with him?"
"No, sir. I'd have seen that much; but he carried a big sack behind the saddle—that I can swear to."
There had been several telephone calls for Inspector Halfyard during his absence; and now three separate statements from different districts awaited him. These were already written out by a constable, and he took them one by one, read them, and handed them to Brendon. The first came from the post-office at Post Bridge, and the post-mistress reported that a man, one Samuel White, had seen a motor bicycle run at great speed without lights up the steep hill northward of that village on the previous night. He gave the time as between half past ten and eleven o'clock.
The second message told how a garage keeper was knocked up at Ashburton, just after midnight, in order that petrol might be obtained for a motor bicycle. The description of the purchaser corresponded to Redmayne and the message added that the bicycle had a large sack tied behind it.
The third communication came from the police station at Brixham and was somewhat lengthy. It ran thus:
"At ten minutes after two o'clock last night P. C. Widgery, on night duty at Brixham, saw a man on a motor bicycle with a large sack behind him run through the town square. He proceeded down the main street and was gone for the best part of an hour; but, before three o'clock, Widgery saw him return without his parcel. He went fast up the hill out of Brixham, the way he came. Inquiries today show that he passed the Brixham coast-guard station about a quarter after two o'clock, and he must have lifted his machine over the barrier at the end of the coast-guard road, because he was seen by a boy, from Merry Head Lighthouse, pushing it up the steep path that runs to the downs. The boy was going for a doctor, because his father, one of the lighthouse watchers, had been taken ill."
Inspector Halfyard waited until Brendon had read the messages and put them down.
"About as easy as shelling peas—eh?" he asked.
"I expected an arrest," answered the detective. "It can't be long delayed."
As thought to confirm him the telephone bell rang and Halfyard rose and entered the box to receive the latest information.
"Paignton speaking," said the message. "We have just called at address of Captain Redmayne—No. 7 Marine Terrace. He was expected last night—had wired yesterday to say he'd be home. They left supper for him, as usual, when he is expected, and went to bed. Didn't hear him return, but found on going down house next morning that he had come—supper eaten, motor bike in tool house in back yard, where he keeps it. They called him at ten o'clock—no answer. They went to his room. Not there and bed not slept in and his clothes not changed. He's not been seen since."
Inspector Halfyard reported the statement and Brendon—picked up the mouthpiece.
"Detective Brendon speaking. Who is it?"
"Inspector Reece, Paignton."
"Let me hear at five o'clock if arrest has been made. Failing arrest I will motor down to you after that hour."
"Very good, sir. I expect to hear he's taken any minute."
Brendon considered, having first looked at his watch.
He turned to Halfyard.
"Should Robert Redmayne not be taken today, one or two things must be done," he said. "You'd better have some of that blood collected and the fact proved that it is human. Now I'll go and get some food and see Mrs. Pendean. Then I'll come back, I'll take the police car for Paignton at half past five if we hear nothing to alter my plans."
It was now three o'clock. Suddenly he turned and asked Halfyard a question.
"What do you think of Mrs. Pendean, inspector?"
"I think two things about her," answered the elder. "I think she's such a lovely piece that it's hard to believe she's just fresh and blood, like other women; and I think I never saw such worship for a man as she had for her husband. This will knock her right bang out."
"What sort of a man was he?"
"A friendly fashion of chap—Cornish—a pacifist at heart I reckon; but he never talked war politics."
"What was his age?"
"Couldn't tell you—doubtful—might have been anything between twenty-five and thirty-five. A man with weak eyes and a brown beard. He wore double eye-glasses for close work, but his long night he said was good."
After a meal Brendon went again to Mrs. Pendean; but many rumors had reached her through the morning and she already knew most of what he had to tell.
"Have you a portrait of your husband?" asked Mark.
Mrs. Pendean left the room and returned in a few moments with a photograph. I presented a man of meditative countenance, wide forehead, and steadfast eyes. He wore a beard, mustache and whiskers, and his hair was rather long.
"Is that like him?"
"Yes; but it does not show his expression. It is not quite natural—he was more animated than that."
"How old was he?"
"Not thirty, Mr. Brendon, but he looked considerably older."
Brendon studied the photograph.
"You can take it with you if you wish to do so. I have another copy," said Mrs. Pendean.
"I shall remember very accurately," answered Brendon. "Can you tell me anything about the lady to whom your uncle is engaged?"
"I can give you her name and address, but I have never seen her."
"Had your husband seen her?"
"Not to my knowledge. Indeed I can say certainly that he never had. She is a Miss Flora Reed and she is stopping with her mother and father at the Singer Hotel, Paignton. Her brother, my uncle's friend in France, is also there I believe."
"Thank you very much. If I hear nothing further, I go to Paignton this evening."
"Why?"
"To pursue my inquiry and see all those who know your uncle."
Mark rose.
"I shall hear from me tomorrow," he said, "and if I do not go to Paignton, I will see you again tonight."
"Thank you—you are very kind," Brendon returned to the police station and was astonished to find that Robert Redmayne continued at large. The cement sack had been found in the mouth of a rabbit hole to the west of the Head above a precipice. The sack was bloodstained and contained some small tufts of hair and the dust of cement.

AT THE MOVIES
THE ELTINGE.
"Daddy" brings Jackie Coogan to the Eltinge theater for today and tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday and with him his pet pig Mildred. "Daddy" is the kind of picture that fits Jackie, and pleases everyone. "Mildred" is Jackie's bottle fed infant pig who grows to womanhood and is responsible for lots of the fun. And other laughs come thick and fast when Jackie mixes with the dish of spaghetti, that he tries to eat; when "Daddy's" pants won't quite fit; when he tries to milk the cow. Then of course, there has to be some pathos which Jackie puts into a picture so appealingly.

A "Fighting Blood" story is also shown for Monday and Tuesday, entitled "Knight-in-Gale."

CAPITOL.
What promises to be one of the best pictures of the season will be seen when "The New Teacher," a William Fox production, starring Shirley Mason, opens at the Capitol theater. Miss Mason, while only a youngster, is one of the most lovable persons appearing on the silver screen.

Preliminary notices of her new play say that she will enact the role of a society girl who becomes a school teacher when the family fortunes dwindle. This is the type of role that Miss Mason should do exceedingly well, and is most after her own heart.

It is evident that Mr. Fox was desirous of making the picture one of the little star's best as he has surrounded her with an exceptionally able cast. Earl Metcalfe and Alan Forrest are two of the best actors in the Fox studio and tiny Pat Moore is one of the leading child actors on the screen.

The picture should be a big success.

A THOUGHT
If any man desire to be first, the same shall be last of all and servant of all.—Mark 9:35.

Honor and fortune exist for him who always recognizes the neighborhood of the great, always feels himself in the presence of high causes.—Emerson.

BISMARCK AND MINOT SPLIT DOUBLE BILL

Boardman Proves Stronger in an Iron-Man Contest with "Wally" Waters

BOTH ARE FINE GAMES

By Tribune Staff Correspondent

Minot, N. D., June 24.—The man who makes a wonderful dash in a race draws applause but it is the runner who sticks through on the long grind as fresh at the finish as the start that draws the deep admiration of the spectators. "Wally" Waters and Charley Boardman hooked up in iron-man dual in a double header here Sunday afternoon. Walters got the edge at the start and won the first game, but Charley stood the long grind the better and Bismarck turned over Minot for the second contest. The score in the first was 3 to 2 and the second 4 to 2.

The temperamental left-hander of the Capitals pitched great ball, and only the breaks of the game cheated him of victory in the first contest, while in the second he out-pitched Walters, a right-hander from the Los Angeles Pacific Coast club. Boardman allowed 10 hits in the 18 innings while Bismarck got 12 off Walters.

A crowd of 660 fans left the field satisfied they'd seen the two best ball games played in North Dakota this year. Some fast pitching was combined with good pitching and close scores to make both games interesting. The double-header started at 2 p.m. and ended about 1 minute before 6 p.m., the limit under the Sunday baseball law.

The second game is the more interesting to Bismarck fans, because the Capitals won it. The Minot club drew first blood, after three scoreless innings. In the fourth Coleman got on first on a single, and Walters sacrificed them. Coleman scored while Oliver was going out, Condon to fly.

In the fifth inning Al Bernier dropped one near the left-field foul line for two bases. Zart attempted to sacrifice and McNight dropped Walters' throw to catch Bernier, who was safe, but McNight cut off Zart when he tried to go to second. Bernier scored on Tom Shanley's hit. Dugan hit into a double play.

Bismarck scored again in the seventh. Bernier fanned. Zart singled. Shanley forced Zart at third. Nord walked. Condon, with the count three and two on him, walked, and Shanley was forced in. Walters then walked Randall, forcing in another run. Fly went out to left. In the eighth Bernier singled another safe one in left. Zart was hit by pitcher. Boardman scored on Shanley's sacrifice fly. Dugan fled to center, and Bernier took third. The throw was too late to get him, but Walter intercepted it and nipped Zart at second.

Minot scored in the ninth inning. Coleman fouled out, Dugan making a nice catch. McNight walked. Walters singled, McNight taking third. McNight scored on Oliver's sacrifice fly. Gunther flew out to Condon.

There was a nice crowd out. Minot plays in the Northwest Fair Grounds, has a good infield and a fine grandstand. The fans showed themselves to be sports, too. Even though Boardman was booed by fans trying to get his goat, the fans frequently applauded him when he did exceptionally good work.

When Dugan took Coleman's foul directly back of him some Minot fan yelled out: "Hey, Dugan, come over and play on our team." Dick Noll, released by Bismarck, appeared in a Minot uniform, catching the game. Worner played right field.

Both Nord and Condon got hits for some fine work in the infield, and Felix Fly on first stabbed one of Condon's throws with his meat hand, and won a round.

Hester shifted his line-up because Spranger was out of the game. Gunther, who has been playing second, was on short, and Jimmy Hennessy, Minot boy, was on first base.

Tom Shanley hasn't been hitting as he should and he put himself down farther in the batting order. He had his hitting eye with him in the second game, however.

Linton Team Wins Eleven Inning Game
Lewis Angell, pitching for the Linton League Feeders in Emmons Sunday League turned in a record game at Linton in a pitcher's battle with the Midgits. Steve Meier twirled for Napoleon with Angell pitching eleven perfect innings, allowing no bunts, no runs, and their being no errors, no passes, no hit batsmen. Linton won the game in the last of the eleventh inning when a single by Green, a double by Beck, and a perfect bunt by Wood brought in the only score of the game.

Both pitchers were in top form. Meier had 13 strikeouts in eleven innings.

WHEN THE "TIGER" GROWLS

No wonder they call Dempsey the "tiger of the ring." Just see that mean look on his map. Here he is in a mixup with Jack Burke, one of his sparring partners. Although much lighter than the champion, Burke wrestles him all over the ring, swapping punch for punch.

ings and Angell fanned 12.
The Linton team has lost only one game in the last 22 played. Friday they defeated Hazelton at the Emmons county stock show by a score of 5 to 4. Cunningham lost his chance to win his own game in the last of the ninth when he struck out with two down and runners on second and third.

Wednesday night Linton plays the Bismarck team at Bismarck.
Strassburg defeated Hazelton in yesterday's other league game on the latter's home ground by 2 to 0, with Prockmorton, a Shanley twirler, turning in the shut out.

HUGE CROWD HEARS FRAZIER AT N. P. PICNIC

Frazier Raps Big Business—Urges Farmers to Keep In Fight

The Picnic held at Yeagen's grove five miles southeast of Bismarck Sunday under the auspices of the Burleigh County Nonpartisan Women's clubs attended by a crowd of 1000 to 1500 people who took a chance on the threatening weather to hear Senator Lynn J. Frazier and the other speakers. Showers and threatening weather during the forenoon prevented many people from attending from the surrounding country although several auto loads of people attended the picnic from west of the river, north as far as Washburn and south as far as Linton.

Mrs. Ella C. Boise acted as chairman of the meeting and introduced the speakers after Mrs. Irene Charlebois had welcomed the visitors for the Burleigh County Women's Nonpartisan clubs of which she is president. John N. Hagan was the first speaker and he gave a review of the recent National Wheat Conference at Chicago last week who have paid their own expenses at the resolutions committee.

C. A. Fisher of Valley City, president of the state Nonpartisan women's clubs was the second speaker on the program. Mrs. Fisher pleaded for a more thorough organization of the leagues and a more broad minded and tolerant spirit to lead the leaders and the state executive committee of which she is a member. She stated that the committee was doing everything it could, handicapped as it was by lack of funds to keep the organization going, and she asked the members of the league to do their share in putting the organization on its feet rather than leaving the work to five members of the executive committee who are serving without salary and who have paid their own expenses at many of their meetings in order that the organization might live. She asked for help and advice from the members of the league, stating that if there was any objection to anything that the committee had done, that the members should write and let them know their views, so that they could get the sentiment of the membership. She declared that such a course would be much better than criticizing the committee when their critics were probably not informed as to the reason for the committee's actions.

Mrs. Fisher stated that while politics was a comparatively new proposition to her and the women of the state and nation, she believed that the granting of the franchise to women would eventually result in cleaner politics and better conditions. She pointed out that men had run the government of the country since the beginning and even they were not satisfied with their own work, and she believed that the women of the nation, if they really decided to take the initiative could do a much better job of it.

Judge R. H. Grace, spoke on the need for the organization of township and precinct units of the league as decided on at the convention held in Bismarck in March.

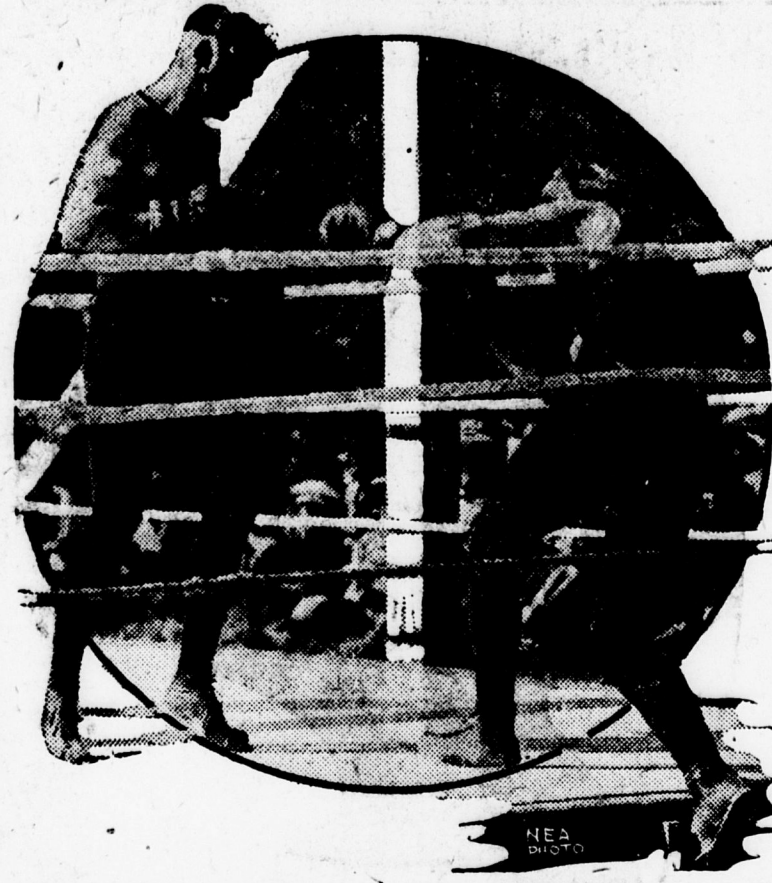

S. S. McDonald made a short talk on labor and farm organizations and President Samuel Gompers of the A. F. of L. attitude on the fixing of a price on wheat when railroad companies were guaranteed a fixed price on their freight rates by the Esch-Cummings law.

Senator Frazier was the last speaker on the program. He emphasized the need of keeping up the fight for better conditions for the farmer and workers. He pointed out that the big business interests are thoroughly organized and compete to protect themselves in the law making bodies of the states and nation, but that while organized labor has a few representatives in our national congress, he is the only real dirt farmer, who depends wholly on the farm for a living in either house of congress. He stated that while he was making several speeches in Nebraska last winter an Omaha paper made the statement in commenting on a bill that was before the Nebraska legislature to establish a state bank similar to the bank of North Dakota that Russia had experimented with state socialism to its destruction and that if the people of Nebraska wanted an example nearer home they had only to look at North Dakota. Senator Frazier said that he found on investigation that Nebraska was more heavily mortgaged per capita than North Dakota was and in replying to the Omaha paper he referred to this fact and stated that he presumed the reason for Nebraska farmers being more heavily mortgaged than North Dakota agriculturalists was because of the fact that they had been farming longer.

DEMPSEY'S OLD PEP RETURNS

Jack's getting up more steam. He's putting more power in his punches now. Here he nearly knocked Harry Drake out of the ring. There's always a good crowd on hand when Dempsey works out.

TRAVELING UNDER ASSUMED NAME, AUTHOR ARRIVES HERE ON LAST LAP OF 10,585 HIKE

On the last lap of a 10,885 mile walk around the United States, Leonard Day, hatless, coatless and penniless arrived in Bismarck Saturday afternoon, with Radio King, his dog, as his only companion. An author, he refuses to reveal his true identity, but has chosen the name of Leonard Day, a character from one of his books.

In 1921, Mr. Day wrote a book, "The Unsolicited Generosity of the American People," and his publishers declared it was so improbable, in fact so impossible, that he immediately set out to prove that what he had said was not only possible but a lot easier than he had even stated in his book.

Leaving San Francisco Nov. 20, 1921, Mr. Day has trudged through the Gulf states over to the Atlantic coast. From there he went north to Portland, Maine, and is now on his return trip to the west coast. Leaving San Francisco, he was hatless, coatless and penniless, and he has remained so since then. His clothes were donated to him by people whom he meets along the way, and his food is obtained in the same way. The only thing he can ask for, in keeping the agreement with his publishers, are matches and water.

"Only three times during my travels have I been forced to sleep out of doors," he said. "Figuring three meals a day, I have only missed thirty meals in the past two years."

When questioned as to the worst experiences he has yet encountered in his travels, he told of his journey through the Yuma desert. The first day he walked twenty miles over the hot desolate sands to the first well, and the second day he walked seventeen miles to the next well. It was then seventeen miles to Yuma, but he was forced to stay at the well during the nights, as authorities will not allow travel at night in the desert.

While traveling in Texas, Mr. Day went without food for sixty hours and walked for 3 miles without seeing a single house. It was in the Lone Star state that he had one of his most exciting experiences. One night as he was preparing to go to sleep in the open, he was attacked by a pack of coyotes. His only protection was his walking stick, and after fighting them strenuously for an hour, he finally drew blood on one, and that ended the battle, for as soon as blood is drawn on a coyote, it's done for.

U. S. GIRL TO WED EGYPTIAN PRINCE
Miss Pearl Ginsberg of New York is on her way to Egypt where she is going to marry Prince Mohammed Ali Ibrahim, famous "sporting prince" who visited the U. S. last year. While he was here spending six weeks and $60,000 of his $200,000 income, the prince said he would rather be shot than married. But he evidently changed his mind for dispatches say he now declares he'll marry Miss Ginsberg whether King Fuad of Egypt consents or not.

McLean Farmers Learn What Their Neighbors Are Doing

Washburn, N. D., June 25.—The first McLean county auto farm tour to be conducted in this county was completed last Tuesday acclaimed by all who took part to be a complete success in every way, and surpassing the expectations of the promoters. The auto tour idea has been developing in the minds of many of the people of this county for the last several years past but not until Tuesday did the idea finally reach the actual stage of completion. The stimulant that such a trip adds to farming cannot be measured in dollars and cents, and yet the dollars and cents value of the affair is big and will grow bigger as more and more people take advantage of such trips and go around and see how the other farmers are overcoming the obstacles that are constantly confronting the farmers on every hand. The farmers go about and see the fine farms of their neighbors, see the best stock in the community, the best horses, the best cows, the best chickens, the best alfalfa fields, the best Sweet Clover fields, the best wheat grass, the best wheat, the best corn, the best oats, the best of everything in the community, and he will go home with a tremendous resolve that he will make his farm just as profitable and just as attractive as his neighbors.

The first stop was at the Maxwell farm, where the Holstein herd was viewed. Mr. Maxwell showed what could be done with high grade Holsteins. A grove of Mr. Wm. Leben interested the visitors at the next stop. Also the field of Hubam, the annual Sweet Clover was gone over and the wonders of this crop noted. The farms of McLean county do not have to be treeless and dull and barren nor do the cattle and horses need to go hungry because they are on a farm in McLean and not in Iowa. Chester White means more to those who saw the herd of pigs belonging to Mike Gregory.

Is chicken raising a success? White Wyandottes and success go hand in hand, claims John Oberger, and he knows, because he has them and is successful with them, too.

Alfalfa hay and alfalfa seed is what the visitors saw on the Wm. Bickert farm on the Painted Woods Lake bottom. The first hay crop has been cut for this year on the field that last fall yielded 350 pounds of clean seed to the acre that sold for 30 cents per pound, and that, besides a fine hay crop on the first year's seeding. There is still more Yellow Gold—it's being made from Alfalfa.

Red Duroc Jersey hogs is what Josephson Bros. put their faith in. They are mortgage lifters and this and this farm is not going to have any to lift if they keep on with this class of stock raising.

John Arrimerson is making a success of sheep raising, the herd grew from 30 to 85 this spring.

Eight span of fine work horses harnessed and out for show were found at Everson Bros. farm. The Percheron stallion brought out for show has the best record of any horse in the county. The tractor is going to rust away and the horse is coming back into his own. Everson Bros. also have sixty acres of Sweet Clover too, that has just netted them a fine crop of hay.

Black Angus means something to the folks who saw the herd belonging to Pete Larson, who displayed a whole yard full of coal black money-makers. He won the sweep stake prizes in the St. Paul stock feeders show in 1917 and there was no doubt about the decision either.

A look at a real dairy farm is what the visitors saw at the Hillside Dairy farm, owned and operated by Andrew Sauer. Andrew has 68 head of Holsteins, thirty-five of them registered in the National association. Two dairy barns with full equipment in the way of stanchions, stalls and milking machine were inspected by at least eighty people.

A modern ten thousand bushel elevator, with complete cleaning equipment for grain and everything handy for grinding feed is a mighty handy thing to have on the farm, says Ole Holman. It means better grain for the market and cleaner grain for the seed bed. It means that the small and worthless grain as far as commercial uses are concerned stay on the farm and are fed to the stock. The grade and value of the grain sold is raised by sending it through the mill before it is marketed. A good store house on the farm will go a long way toward correcting the evils of the marketing system that seems to be giving the American farmers so much trouble.

If it hadn't been covered the visitors might have used the 140 barrel water supply tank on the Ben Johnson farm for a swimming place. As it was, they didn't. Ben showed them how he keeps the frost out of his silo too, by adding a triple thickness of paper and sheeting to the outside. Plenty of fresh water and fresh unfrozen silage ought to make any cow happy. They are on this farm.

United States Congressman R. H. Thorpe on finding that his son was too young to attend this year's camp was very much disappointed, as he was very anxious that his son should receive the splendid training given at the camp. He expresses the hope that this purely American training will instill in our young men a higher type of patriotism and loyalty to our country.

At these camps the government provides everything free, including railroad fare, food, lodging, uniforms and equipment, and medical and dental care.

The Reverend Homer C. Stuntz, Resident Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church emphatically declares that he is unalterably opposed to militarism, but that he is most heartily in favor of the Citizens' Military Training camps and is personally recommending them to young men.

His Grace, the Most Reverend Archbishop Harry in a letter to the Seventh Corps Area Citizens' Military Training Camps officer expresses himself as heartily in favor of the camps, states that he will take an active interest in the campaign and wishes success to the good work.

BISMARCK AND MINOT SPLIT DOUBLE BILL

Boardman Proves Stronger in an Iron-Man Contest with "Wally" Walters

BOTH ARE FINE GAMES

By Tribune Staff Correspondent

Minot, N. D., June 24.—The man who makes a wonderful dash in a run, draws applause but it is the runner who sticks through on the long grind as fresh at the finish as at the start that draws the deep admiration of the spectators.

"Wally" Walters and Charley Boardman hooked up in iron-man duel in a double header here Sunday afternoon. Walters got the edge at the start and won the first game, but Charley stood the long grind the better and Bismarck turned over Minot for the second contest. The score in the first was 3 to 2 and the second 4 to 2.

The temperamental left-hander of the Capitals pitched the great ball, and only the break of the game cheated him of victory in the first contest, while in the second he out-pitched Walters, a right-hander from the Los Angeles Pacific Coast club. Boardman allowed 10 hits in the 18 innings while Bismarck got 12 off Walters.

A crowd of 600 fans left the field satisfied they'd seen the two best ball games played in North Dakota this year. Some fast fielding was combined with good pitching and close scores to make both games interesting. The double-header started at 2 p.m. and ended about 1 minute before 6 p.m., the limit under the Sunday baseball law.

The second game is the more interesting to Bismarck fans, because the Capitals won it. The Minot club drew first blood, after three scoreless innings. In the fourth Coleman got on first on a single, and Boardman passed McNight. Walters sacrificed them.

Coleman scored when Oliver was going out to the fly. In the fifth inning Al Bernier dropped one near the left-field foul line for two bases. Zart attempted to sacrifice and McNight dropped Walters' throw to catch Bernier, who was safe, but McNight cut off Zart when he tried to go to second. Bernier scored on Tom Shanley's hit. Bismarck scored again in the seventh. Bernier fanned. Zart singled. Shanley produced his second hit. Dugan forced Zart at third. Nord walked. Condon, with the count three and two on him, walked, and Shanley was forced. Walters then walked. Fly went out to left.

In the eighth Boardman singled next Hester. Bernier dropped another safe one in left. Zart was hit by pitcher. Boardman scored on Shanley's sacrifice fly. Dugan fled to center, and Bernier took third. The throw was too late to get him, but Walter intercepted it and nipped Zart at second.

Minot scored in the ninth inning. Coleman fouled out. Dugan making a nice catch. McNight walked. Walters singled. McNight taking third. McNight scored on Oliver's sacrifice fly. Gunther flew out to Condon.

There was a nice crowd out. Minot plays in the Northwest Fair grounds, has a good infield and a fine grandstand. The fans showed themselves to be sports, too. Even though Boardman was booed by fans trying to get his goat, the fans frequently applauded him when he did exceptionally good work.

When Dugan took Coleman's foul directly back of him some Minot fan yelled out: "Hey, Dugan, come over and play on our team." Dick Noll, released by Bismarck, appeared in a Minot uniform, catching the game. Warner played right field.

Both Nord and Condon got hands for some fine work in the infield, and Felix Fly on first stabbed one of Condon's throws with his meat hand, and won a round.

Hester shifted his line-up because Spranger was out of the game. Gunther, who has been playing second, was on short, and Jimmy Hennessey, Minot boy, was on first base.

Tom Shanley hasn't been hitting as he should and he put himself down farther in the batting order. He had his hitting eye with him in the second game, however.

Knockout Transfers Another Boxing Title

Jimmie Wilde, Welshman, stretched out on the canvas unconscious by a short right hook by Pancho Villa, Filipino. That blow in the seventh round of their fight in New York City transferred the world's flyweight championship from Wilde to Villa. Minot, June 25.—A ninth inning rally gave Minot the second consecutive game of the Bismarck series here Saturday, 9 to 6. With two out, Oliver's single scored the winning run.

JMKOTANS HIT HARD

Jamestown, N. D., June 25.—Jamestown gathered 14 hits off two twin hurlers and made one less run, winning Saturday's ball game, 13 to 4. It was Jamestown's third consecutive win in the series. Ryan pitched a good game for Jamestown with the home team hit Kinney and Cantin hard.

Linton Team Wins Eleven Inning Game

Lewis Angell, pitching for the Linton League Eaters in Emersons Sunday League turned in a record game at Linton in a pitcher's battle with the Midgets. Steve Meyer twirled for Napoleon with Angell pitching eleven perfect innings, allowing no bunts, no runs, and their using no errors, no passes, no hit batsmen. Linton won the game in the last of the eleven innings when a single by Green, a double by Beck, and a perfect bunt by Wood brought in the only score of the game.

Wednesday night Linton plays the Bismarck team at Bismarck.

Strassburg defeated Hazelton in yesterday's other league game on the latter's home ground by 2 to 0, with Prockmorton, a Shanley twirler, turning in the shut out.

JAMESTOWN TO PLAY HERE

Series Is Transferred to Bismarck, Starting Wednesday

The Jamestown baseball series has been transferred to Bismarck because of the bankers association convention here.

The two teams will meet in their first game Wednesday night at 6:15 on the local lot, and will play through to, and including Sunday.

Manager Shanley will bring his team home tomorrow, after meeting Minot again this evening.

Bismarck has two new players. They are Felix Fly, infielder and pitcher and Joe Day, pitcher. Both are Indians.

Jennings, pitcher, and Noll were released. Noll joined Minot and Jennings was expected to pitch for Minot tonight before going to his home in Duluth.

Fly and Day have been playing in Plano, Ill. Both also have played much in Minnesota in the last two or three years. Fly is reputed to be a heavy hitter.

Shelby, Mont., June 25.—An idea made Thomas Edison the greatest inventor the world ever had.

Another idea made Henry Ford the richest man the world ever had.

And an idea may make Tom Gibbons the next heavyweight champion of the world here July Fourth.

A lot of fighters have good hindsight. Gibbons has foresight.

Before he steps into the Shelby Shell to face Jack Dempsey he will be warmed up like a race horse before a race or a baseball pitcher before a ball game.

Here is Tom's idea.

"I first began to get in the ring for a battle without warming myself up to a sweat," says Gibbons.

"In my dressing room I do three or four rounds of shadow boxing.

"When the bell rings I don't have to fool around getting started.

"I'm ready to go at top speed the first minute.

"I first began to do this warming up stunt three years ago.

"I piled up my knockout record after that.

"When I am warm and my opponent is cold I have the percentage on him.

"It is easier to knock a fellow out when he is cold. His blood hasn't started racing fast through his veins to recuperate him if he gets in a bad way.

chances are ten to one he'll get knocked out of the box before he gets a sweat up.

"The same thing applies to a fighter.

"You can't fight when you are cold.

"And when the other fellow is cold then is a good time to smack him over.

"I'll be warmed up to pitch fifteen half innings when I get in there July Fourth against Dempsey if necessary."

HUGE CROWD HEARS FRAZIER AT N. P. PICNIC

Frazier Raps Big Business—Urges Farmers to Keep in Fight

The Picnic held at Yeagen's grove five miles southeast of Bismarck Sunday under the auspices of the Burleigh County Nonpartisan's Women's clubs attended by a crowd of 1000 to 1500 people who took a chance on the threatening weather to hear Senator Lynn J. Frazier and the other speakers. Showers and threatening weather during the forenoon prevented many people from attending from the surrounding country although several auto loads of people attended the picnic from west of the river, north as far as Washburn and south as far as Linton.

Mrs. Ella C. Boise acted as chairman of the meeting and introduced the speakers after Mrs. Irene Charlebois had welcomed the visitors for the Burleigh County Women's Nonpartisan clubs of which she is president. John N. Hagan was the first speaker and he gave a review of the recent National Wheat Conference at Chicago last week which he attended and why he served on the resolutions committee.

Mrs. C. A. Fisher of Valley City, president of the state Nonpartisan women's clubs was the second speaker on the program. Mrs. Fisher pleaded for a more thorough organization of the leagues and a more broad minded and tolerant spirit toward the leaders and the state executive committee of which she is a member. She stated that the committee was doing everything it could to handle the situation.

At many of their meetings in order that the organization might live. She asked for help and advice from the members of the league, stating that if there was any objection to anything that she had said she would be glad to hear of it.

The only thing he can ask for, in keeping the agreement with his publishers, are matches and water.

"Only three times during my travels have I been forced to sleep out of doors," he said. "Figuring three meals a day, I have only missed thirty meals in the past two years."

When questioned as to the worst experiences he has yet encountered in his travels, he told of his journey through the Yuma desert. The first day he walked twenty miles over the hot desolate sands to the first well, and the second day he walked seventeen miles to the next well. It was then seventeen miles to Yuma, but he was forced to stay at the well during the nights, as authorities will not allow no travel at night in the desert.

While traveling in Texas, Mr. Day went without food for sixty hours, and walked for 3 miles without seeing a single house. It was in the Lone Star state that he had one of his most exciting experiences. One night as he was preparing to go to sleep in the open, he was attacked by a pack of coyotes. His only protection was his walking stick, and after fighting them strenuously for an hour, he finally drew blood on one, and that ended the battle, for as soon as blood is drawn on a coyote, it's done for.

Judge R. H. Grace, spoke on the need for the organization of township and precinct units of the league, and pointed out at the convention held in Bismarck in March.

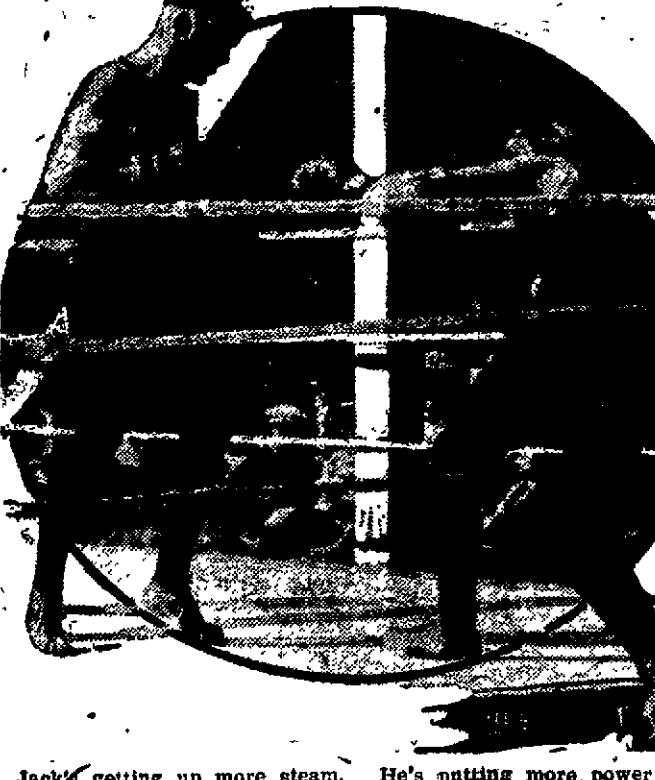

S. S. McDonald made a short talk on labor and farm organizations and President Samuel Gompers of the A. F. of L. attitude on the fixing of a price on wheat when railroad companies were guaranteed a fixed price on their freight rates by the Esch-Cummins law.

Senator Frazier was the last speaker on the program. He emphasized the need of keeping up the fight for better conditions for the farmer and workers. He pointed out that the big business interests are thoroughly organized and competent to protect themselves in the law making bodies of the states and nation, but that while organized labor has a few representatives in our national congress, he is the only real dirt farmer, who depends wholly on the farm for a living in either house of congress. He stated that while he was making several speeches in Nebraska last winter an Omaha paper made the statement in commenting on a bill that was before the Nebraska legislature to establish a state bank similar to the bank of North Dakota that Russia had experimented with state socialism to its destruction and that if the people of Nebraska wanted an example nearer home they had only to look at North Dakota. Senator Frazier said that he found on investigation that Nebraska was more heavily mortgaged per capita than North Dakota was and in replying to the Omaha paper he referred to this fact and stated that he presumed the reason for Nebraska farmers being more heavily mortgaged than North Dakota agriculturalists was because of the fact that they had been farming longer.

On the last lap of a 10,885 mile walk around the United States, Leonard Day, hatless, coatless and penniless arrived in Bismarck Saturday afternoon, with Radio King, his dog, as his only companion. An author, he refuses to reveal his true identity, but has chosen the name of Leonard Day, a character from one of his books.

In 1921, Mr. Day wrote a book, "The Unsolicited Generosity of the American People," and his publishers declared it was so improbable, in fact so impossible, that he immediately set out to prove that what he had said was not only possible but a lot easier than he had even stated in his book.

Leaving San Francisco Nov. 20, 1921, Mr. Day has trudged through the Gulf states over to the Atlantic coast. From there he went north to Portland, Major, and is now on his return trip to the west coast. Leaving San Francisco, he was hatless, coatless and penniless, and he has remained so since then. His clothes were donated to him by people whom he meets along the way, and his food is obtained in the same way.

Each time he has been forced to sleep out of doors," he said. "Figuring three meals a day, I have only missed thirty meals in the past two years."

When questioned as to the worst experiences he has yet encountered in his travels, he told of his journey through the Yuma desert. The first day he walked twenty miles over the hot desolate sands to the first well, and the second day he walked seventeen miles to the next well. It was then seventeen miles to Yuma, but he was forced to stay at the well during the nights, as authorities will not allow no travel at night in the desert.

WOULD DRAFT ALL FOR WAR

President Tells Vets He Favors Draft of Essentials

Denver, Colo., June 25.—President Harding's first official act after his arrival here yesterday for a visit of more than 24 hours was to assure the soldier sick at the army general hospital that he would "keep everlastingly at it" to see that full justice was meted out by the government to the wounded veterans of the World War and "would pledge himself, his every influence and endeavor to prevent another war on the part of the United States."

"But," Mr. Harding said, addressing a group who assembled to welcome him and Mrs. Harding, "I want to tell you that if ever there is another war we will do more than draft the boys. If I have anything to do with it we will draft every dollar and every other essential."

Youths Explore Indian Villages

The Lincoln Pioneers of the Wachter school spent a few days exploring some of the Indian villages along the Missouri. The big rock, upon which the Indians ground their corn, was outstanding spot of interest at the village site just west of the city. The boys camped on the village with the two ditches twelve miles up the river and had a great time digging into the mounds for treasure. On the Mandan village site across the river at Old Fort Lincoln traces were found along the railway cut of the cells, used by the Indians. Flint, Arrow Heads, Pouches and pottery were among the relics brought home.

Mr. MacLeod's regular camps being over he will confine his attention to playground activities, watersports swimming and life saving and hikes. A playground base ball league will be organized for both older and younger boys. Those who are to practice with the Wm. Moore crew will meet Monday and Wednesday evenings. The East Enders will practice on the Wachter grounds Tuesdays and Thursdays, while the South Side practice nights will be Tuesday and Friday, at the Wachter school grounds. The regular playground ball will be used in these games and any boys who wish to play on a team should report on the playgrounds this week.

Ball Players Meet Tonight, Wm. Moore

Deemy, Fred Hanson, Dave Cook, Mac McLaughlin, Phil Boise, and any others in the neighborhood who aspire to a place on a real ball team. Doc. Stackhouse, Bill Harris, Tom Cayou and John Frence would be mighty welcome. It is reported that Low is working out Charlie Vettel on the mound and if he can get any one tall enough to catch Charlie he figures that he will have a pretty nifty machine.

FRANK MILLER 62, IS VICTIM OF HEART ILL

Taken With Heart Attack At Barn—Coroner Finds No Other Cause

Frank Miller, 62, of Sterling died shortly after midnight Saturday night as a result of an acute attack of heart trouble. For a number of years Mr. Miller was employed as a taxi driver in Bismarck. For sometime prior to his death he had been employed on the county roads and was making his home with a friend, Mr. Hanson. Both he and Hanson had retired for the night when Miller arose and went out to the barn.

Close to 1 o'clock Sunday morning Earl Gaskell and Frank Coder who had tied their horses in the Hanson barn while in town found the deceased lying behind the horses with his face down. Gaskell and Coder had gone to the barn to get their horses preparatory to going home when they found the dead man.

Upon examination Coroner E. J. Gobel found that there were no bruises or marks to indicate that the man had been kicked by the horses. The doctor who examined the body after it had been brought to Bismarck declared that in his opinion an acute heart attack had caused the death of the deceased.

For several months during the past winter Mr. Miller was under treatment for myo-carditis, or heart trouble at a local hospital.

Mr. Hanson said that he had not heard Miller when he left the house, but that it was customary for him to get up two or three times during the night and go to the barn.

The remains are being held at Webb Bros. Undertaking Parlor while an effort is being made to locate the brother of the deceased at Neilville, Wis.
